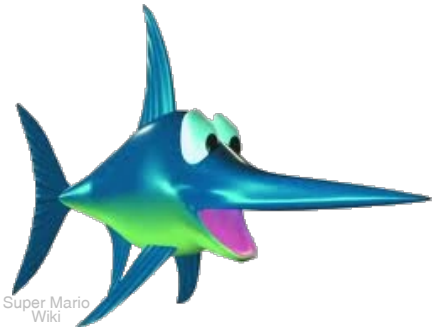
The DONKEY KONG COUNTRY Board Game

Designed by Justin and Joshua Patrick, 2011-2023. Version 4.3
Donkey Kong Country series by Nintendo and Rare.



Prepare for a thrilling strategic adventure as you travel across Donkey Kong Country, while competing to collect resources in order to build every single one of the SNES/GBA trilogy's 142 levels. You must wisely choose your player character, carefully determine when and which of your items and cards to use or drop, bargain with other players, and anticipate upcoming disasters. Thorough knowledge of the video games is not necessary (there are no trivia questions, etc.), but it can help a bit.

The ultimate goal is to reach the finish space, "306% complete". But in order to be able to go to this space, you must build every level, find each level's secrets, complete Queen Banana Bird's quest, give K. Rool a whoopin' in 5 different fights, and find time to finish your homework on top of it all! This guide will attempt to explain the rules of the game as thoroughly as possible, divided into sections detailing the various features.

Gameplay Overview

Before you get into the nitty-gritty of how each part of the game specifically works and what steps to follow on your turn, take a look at this section to get a high-level 101 of what kinds of things you'll be doing during the game:

Taking turns and moving

As in Monopoly, players take turns, and on their turn, roll the dice, move a number of spaces, and perform some action depending on what they land on. In this game, there are about a dozen types of spaces you can land on, so it won't be as simple as buying a property or paying rent. To see what each type of space does, check out pages 7 through 10.

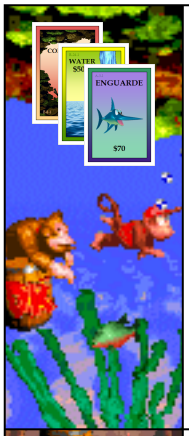
Additionally, there are places on this game's board where the path splits and rejoins; at a path split, you have the option of picking between multiple space types. Choose wisely! All paths are 1-way, so be sure to look for the arrows at path splits to see which directions are allowed.

Picking things up

Many spaces on the board will reward you with several materials when you land on them. For example, if you land on a space with "Enguarde" on it, look in the supply for an Enguarde card and put it into your "inventory".

Your inventory is basically your collection of material cards and other helpful stuff your character is carrying around the board. Be careful, as there is a maximum amount of stuff you can hold (depends on your character) – if you pick up too much stuff, you'll have to drop some when your turn ends.

In addition to level material cards, other things that take up space in your inventory include tokens (such as camera pieces) which you pick up from token spaces, items you buy from Bazaar's General Store, and sometimes rare bonus items you get from a bonus space or ability items specific to your character. Your character card, ability cards, cash, and anything else not mentioned here doesn't take up any inventory space.

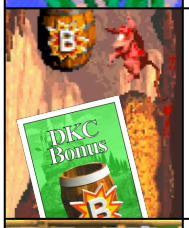


Building levels

Why are the Kongs and other characters picking up materials? To build levels, of course. Building all the levels in the DKC trilogy is the primary goal of this game, and the one that will take the most of your attention. In order to build a level, you'll need to have its required material cards in your inventory, as well as a certain amount of cash (and sometimes some bonus coins). The requirements for each level are listed on your level checklist (see page 13).

In addition to building each level, you also have to get each level's "exclamation point", a.k.a. "!" – for regular levels, this represents finding all of its secrets, and for boss levels, it represents beating the boss without getting hurt. When you build a level, roll a die to see if you were skilled enough to get "!" on your first try. If you miss, you'll have to visit wise old Cranky Kong to get help later on (or get a lucky reroll from a bonus space).

Should you aim to build the biggest levels first? Smallest? Ones that other players haven't built yet so you profit off of them? Whatever's convenient for you at the moment? It's all up to you. But, don't delay – you have 142 to build! More details about level-building are on page 12.



Reacting to bonus events

Just like chance cards in Monopoly, there are bonus spaces in this game that will interrupt your level-building aspirations with some crazy events, sometimes good, sometimes bad. Cards will often instruct you to gain or lose physical things like money or materials, or sometimes will make you lose your next turn. Other cards will make players warp around the board, gain new items, recruit enemies to attack opponents, set timers for an event to happen after a certain number of turns, and much more.

Using family & friends' spaces

Besides spaces for materials, tokens, and bonuses, there are spaces for several family members and friends eager to assist you on your journey. Cranky can help you find levels' secrets, Funky can fly you to other places on the board, Candy can save your levels and give you new character abilities, Wrinkly will give you new homework assignments to complete, Swanky offers special minigames to play, and Bazaar lets you buy, sell, and trade materials and items. For more details on these spaces, see pages 7 through 9.

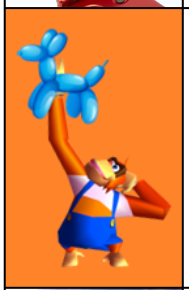
Losing lives and saving levels

It's not only a long road, but a dangerous one, too. Your character starts with a certain number of lives. If you lose all your lives (by landing on a Lose a Life space, or due to a bonus or item), you get a "game over" and you lose several unsaved levels, just like when playing the actual DKC video games. "Game over" doesn't mean you're eliminated from the game; you do keep playing. But it's still something you should avoid… Losing a level means it gets un-built, and you'll have to build it again from scratch!

At Candy's space, she can help you save your built levels. Once you've saved a level, you never have to worry about losing it from a game over. You don't have to save all your levels in order to win the game, but it's good if you want peace of mind. Additionally, there are opportunities to buy extra lives at some of your Kong family members' spaces.

Using tokens and items

The 4 token types (camera pieces, golden feathers, banana birds, and crystal coconuts), as well as items you get from Bazaar or through bonuses, can be utilized to help you perform special actions. They can do things such as earn you specific materials you're looking for, land on a specific space you want, steal opponents' stuff, or sometimes even get free levels. See page 11 for details on tokens, or page 9 to learn about items.



Using your character's abilities

Similarly to token/item abilities, every character has a set of their own personal abilities which can come into play. Some of your own abilities will help you out, while others are burdens you have to deal with. At the start of the game, every player picks out an ability "loadout" by choosing some of their character's ability cards; each card has a number on it, and these must add up to a maximum of +1. (See page 8 for details on how to manage abilities)

Be sure to keep in mind the time that an ability can activate (such as when you land on a certain kind of space, or when you build a level) and follow its effect once that time comes. Also during the game, if you land on Candy's space, you have an opportunity to switch up your ability loadout to whatever might be strategically useful at the moment.

Helping Queen Banana Bird

Queen Banana Bird's children have been scattered across Donkey Kong Country, and being the generous gorilla you are, you've agreed to help bring the banana birds home to her. You can't win the game until you've brought 20 birds to her space in the center of the board; once you do, after you've beaten K. Rool, she'll swoop in and make sure he never troubles you again. (He'll still trouble the other players, though.)

Doing your homework

Aren't you setting aside some time to keep up with your studies? Another requirement before you can finish the game is to graduate Wrinkly's Kong Kollege. She has 2 major projects for you: first, add every level material in the game to your personal scrapbook. Second, complete 100 points worth of various homework assignments you can pick up from Wrinkly's space. For more details on these, see page 8. (Thank goodness you don't have to write essays or do presentations in front of the class.)

Fighting K. Rool

You have to fight K. Rool 5 times to fully complete the DKC trilogy of video games, and likewise, you have to beat him in 5 different fights in this board game. Each K. Rool fight has prerequisites before you can enter, usually requiring you to have either built all of a certain group of levels, or gotten all of a group of "!"s. For details about these K. Rool fights, see page 10.

Complicated enough for you? You're just getting started, little monkey. In the next sections you'll find specific details and rules about the game's characters, turn order, spaces, and other features. Read them thoroughly if you want, or just refer back to them whenever you need to.

Choose Your Character

Donkey, Diddy, Dixie, and Kiddy have explored Donkey Kong Country in the past, but now their extended family has come to tag along, plus some more friends and acquaintances who also want a piece of the action in this competition. Which Kong or other character should you pick to play as in this epic adventure? Each one has certain advantages and disadvantages that will affect their gameplay, shown in the chart below. They've also got positive and negative abilities which can come into play under specific circumstances (see page 8 for details on how to manage abilities, or pages 31 through 33 for the full list of abilities). So, you can strategize and pick a character that best suits your playstyle – or just whichever one you're a fan of.

Setting Up the Game

1 Make sure that you have all of the game supplies, and sort them into piles. Bonus Barrel, Cranky's Cabin, Funky's Flights, Wrinkly's Kong Kollege, Swanky's Bonus Bonanza, and Bazaar's General Store cards should be face down and shuffled.

2 Each player receives a level checklist, listing each of the 142 levels, the materials required in order to build them, and their "!" difficulty. The page also includes a material wish list, plus information about your Kong Kollege homework assignments and Queen Banana Bird's quest. (More details on page 13)

3 Each player selects a character piece. (Details about the characters on page 5) Place each player's piece on the Start space.

4 Each player receives a total of $2425 in starting cash:

5 Each player receives a number of Extra Life bills according to their character's starting amount.

6 Decide which player will go first (if you want something to decide it, go with whoever last ate a banana). Give that player the checkpoint barrel (marks whose turn it currently is), and begin the gameplay sequence.

Gameplay Sequence

1 At the start of your turn, you can build as many levels as you want (as long as you fulfill their requirements). This is what you'll be working towards during the entire game. (More details on page 12) You can also use camera pieces (page 11), some items, and some character abilities at this time.

2 Next, roll your character's movement die and move your piece forward that many spaces. If there is a split in the path, choose either direction. You can only move along the path in the direction of the arrows.

3 If you don't like the space you land on, you can spend a golden feather token to change the number of spaces you move by -2, -1, +1, or +2, but only if you didn't land on a Lose a Life space (see page 11).

Steve Mayles

4 If you pass over the Start space, you can choose to either save your game, receive an amount of money depending on your character, or sometimes a third ability-specific option. If you land on the Start space, do all of these. (See page 10 for more details)

5 Do something according to what kind of space you landed on. For details on all the types of spaces, see pages 7 through 10.

6 After you have taken the appropriate action for your space, you have another opportunity to build levels and/or perform any of the actions listed in step 1 if you want to.

7 If your combined number of inventory slots taken up by your cards, tokens, and items is over your maximum inventory size (depends on your character), then you must now get rid of some until you're down to the maximum. (If you want, you're free to get rid of stuff below the maximum, too.)

8 From the bank, collect $20 for each token (camera piece, golden feather, banana bird, or crystal coconut) that you still have in your inventory.

9 Finally, pass the checkpoint barrel to the next player (to your left), and they begin their turn.

Space Types

When you land on a level material space, from the supply, collect a card for each animal, environment, and resource listed on the space. If there are no more left of a certain card in the supply, take one from your opponent who has the most (if it's a tie, your choice) and pay them the cost printed on the card. You can have multiple copies of a material card. If you're looking for a certain material type on the board, you'll be able to find it in worlds whose levels contain that material. Full details on all the materials are on page 25 in the appendix.

When you land on a token space, collect a token of the shown type from the supply. If there are no more left in the supply, take one from your opponent who has the most (if it's a tie, your choice) and pay them $100. Details about how to use tokens are on page 11.

When you land on a bonus space, draw a bonus barrel card according to the color of the space. (Note: "ANY" does not mean you can take from any bonus pile; instead it means that the bonus could be related to anything in the Donkey Kong series, rather than from 1 of the 3 trilogy games in particular.)

Bonuses will cause something good or bad to happen to you or other players. Some bonus cards will include dice rolls, in which case you or other players might want to use a banana bird (see page 11). If a card says that something will occur under some later condition, then keep the card out of the pile until that condition occurs. After a bonus is done being applied, put the card face-up on top of the corresponding bonus discard pile. Once there are no more cards left to draw from a pile, shuffle its discard pile to re-use. The full list of possible bonuses can be found in the appendix on pages 26 through 29.

When landing on a bonus, you also get an additional reward depending on what color bonus you draw (you can take the reward either before or after drawing the card, but if it's after, make sure you don't forget it):

- DKC Bonus: For one DKC level you've built but failed the "!" roll, you can reroll to try to get "!".
- DKC2 Bonus: For one DKC2 level you've built but failed the "!" roll, you can reroll to try to get "!".
- DKC3 Bonus: For one DKC3 level you've built but failed the "!" roll, you can reroll to try to get "!".
- ANY Bonus: You can take an animal token. If you have 3 or more animal tokens, before the end of your turn you must trade them all in for either 1 material card of choice (not Gunship) or 1 extra life.

This space is where you can buy "tips" on how to "find all of the secrets" in levels, and how to "get good at beating the bosses". This is a way to get the "!" for levels which you missed when you first built them. Cranky only provides tips on levels in his current world; for example, the only place to get tips for Jungle Hijinxs or the other Kongo Jungle levels is at the Cranky's Cabin space in Kongo Jungle.

(There are some exceptions to this:

- The "!" tip for the K. Rool fight Gang-Plank Galleon can be bought at Cranky's in Chimp Caverns.
- The "!" tips for Screech's Sprint and K. Rool Duel can be bought at Cranky's in K. Rool's Keep.)

When you land on a world's Cranky space, you can buy as many tips for that world's levels as you want. To buy a tip for a level, you need to have already built that level but not gotten "!" for it. Each level's tip costs $100 times the level's secret difficulty number. When you buy a tip, immediately mark the "!" for that level on your level checklist, to the left of its secret difficulty number (see page 13 for an example).

You can also choose to start an Expresso Racing minigame (can do this plus other Cranky's activities in any order) – if you do, all players will participate. Draw from the Cranky's Cabin deck, as many cards as there are players, to see what racers will be in it. Different racers will have different stats, some better than others, and sometimes with a unique gimmick. The better the racer, the more money a player will have to pay to sponsor it / bet on it. You get the first pick of a racer to bet on, then continue with the player to your left, and so on (each must bet a different racer). The race has 3 laps – on each lap, roll your racer's associated die. (Each lap, players can modify their rolls with a banana bird if they want – see page 11) If there's a tie at the race's end, everybody participates in another lap until the tie is broken. 1st place wins a card of choice, token of choice, or $600. 2nd place: $300 or an extra life. The full list of racers and their stats can be found in the appendix on page 30.

Finally, on this turn you can do these things:

- Swap up to 3 of your tokens with tokens of a different type (exchange with the supply), at a cost of $100 each. (If you give banana birds, must be unflipped, and you completely give away the bird, don't flip it.)
- Give Cranky up to 3 tokens of any type (return them to the supply) to receive 1 extra life per token. (If you give banana birds, must be unflipped, and you completely give away the bird, don't flip it.) Your maximum is twice your character's starting amount of lives.

When you land on this, if you want to, draw 3 Funky's Flights cards, which have the names of worlds on them. You can fly to any space in one of these 3 drawn worlds for $100. You go to the space immediately, not on your next turn. If you want to "land on" the space you fly to, meaning that the space's effects will apply, then you must instead pay $400. When you fly to a space, it's not like moving forward along a path until you reach it (so you don't get the effect of passing the Start space). After you're done flying, put the cards face-up on top of the Funky discard pile. Once there are no more cards left to draw, shuffle the discard pile to re-use.

You can also play the Funky's Fishing minigame for a chance to get some prizes (you can do this before or after flying). If you want to play, pay $100 to the bank. Roll each of these dice all at once: blue 6-side, white 8-side (your fishing hook, which can be modified with a banana bird – see page 11), blue 10-side, blue 12-side, blue 20-side. For each die with a rolled value equal to or lower than your hook's value, you get the corresponding prize. (You can get multiple prizes)

- 6-side: $50
- 10-side: $200
- 12-side: Water card
- 20-side: Token of choice

If the space you choose to fly to and land on is another Funky's Flights, you can't fly from there on this turn, but you can play Funky's Fishing a second time.

When you land on this, you can save a certain number of your unsaved levels (depends on the "Saving" number for your character). There is no cost, and you can choose to save levels in any order. Keep in mind that saving levels is not required to win the game, but it is nice so you won't have to worry about losing levels if you get a game over (losing all lives).

Candy's space is also where you can manage your character's abilities. You can pay 1 crystal coconut to be allowed to swap in or out as many abilities as you want before your turn ends. Keep in mind that your total ability points must add up to no more than +1, and you must always have your "Core" abilities. Abilities marked as "Full Game" can only be added at the start of the game, and can never be removed. If you haven't yet unlocked your character's "Unlockable" ability, you can pay Candy 3 crystal coconuts at once to unlock it for the rest of the game (and when you do this, you also get to swap abilities around this turn without needing to pay an extra 1). Ability cards don't take up any inventory space..The full list of abilities can be found in the appendix on pages 31 through 33.

Finally, on this turn you can also give Candy up to 3 tokens of any type (return them to the supply) to receive 1 extra life per token. (If you give banana birds, must be unflipped, and you completely give away the bird, don't flip it.) Your maximum is twice your character's starting amount of lives.

This space is where you can manage your homework assignments and scrapbooking. Throughout the game, you are required to complete at least 100 points worth of homework. Each assignment can take dozens of turns, and can include things such as landing on a certain type of space many times, building specific kinds of levels, or doing special things at Kong family member spaces.

When you land on this space, if you want to receive a homework assignment, draw 3 Wrinkly's Kong Kollege cards; you can choose 1 to take. After you're done, put the unused cards face-up on top of the Wrinkly discard pile. Once there are no more cards left to draw, shuffle the discard pile to re-use. Keep these things in mind:

- You can only have 1 homework assignment card at a time, and only turn it in / get points for it once you return it at Wrinkly's, not immediately when you've finished the requirements.
- To complete a homework assignment, nothing you did in the past counts unless it specifically mentions it. It only counts what you do in the future after picking up the card.
- Homework assignments never enable you to do something you couldn't normally do. (For example, Suffering Solidarity doesn't allow you to lose a life whenever you want – you have to lose it by normal means, such as a Lose a Life space.)
- If an assignment you drew is impossible to complete (requires building X levels but you don't have that many left to build, etc.), if you want you can discard that one and draw another. (Repeat as many times as needed)
- You can never turn in a assignment on the turn you get it.
- Use your homework section on your level checklist to keep track of each assignment's completion (see page 13 for an example). You don't get the points as soon as you complete the requirements; you must also turn it back in to Wrinkly (put it in her discard pile).
- All players can see each other's current homework assignments.
- You're not allowed to turn in the same homework assignment more than once. (But you can do one someone else has already done)
- Homework assignment cards don't take up any inventory space.
- The full list of possible homework assignments can be found in the appendix on page 35.

Wrinkly's space is also where you can add materials to your scrapbook. Throughout the game, you are required to add 1 of every level material in the game to your personal scrapbook. To do this, pay 1 of that material card to Wrinkly (no additional cost, and it gets sent back to the supply), and check it off in the scrapbook section of your level checklist, also shown on page 13. (There is one exception: the Gunship card gets scrapbooked as soon as you build a level with it.) Unlike levels, neither scrapbooked cards nor completed homework assignments are ever lost if you lose all your lives.

Finally, on this turn you can also give Wrinkly up to 3 tokens of any type (return them to the supply) to receive 1 extra life per token. (If you give banana birds, must be unflipped, and you completely give away the bird, don't flip it.) Your maximum is twice your character's starting amount of lives.

When you land on this, if you want, you can choose to play 1 of these 2: Swanky's sideshow endurance game (dice-rolling) or a bonus bonanza quiz (questions about the current state of the game). Either one costs $250 to play, and can earn you some cool prizes if you perform well. If you fail 1 of the 2 games, if you want, you can then pay half-price ($125) to play the other one immediately after.

When playing endurance, keep rolling an 8-side die (each roll can be modified with a banana bird if you want – see page 11). If you roll a 1 at any point, you lose and don't get a prize. If you haven't gotten a 1, you can stop at any time to receive 1 prize equal to or lower than the number of times you didn't roll a 1:

- 1 time: $100
- 2 times: $200
- 3 times: $300
- 4 times: $400
- 5 times: Token of choice
- 6 times: $500
- 7 times: Extra life
- 8 times: $750
- 9 times: Animal card of choice
- 10 times: $1000
- 11 times: Resource card of choice
- 12 times: $1500
- 13 times: Environment card of choice
- 14 times: $2000
- 15 times: Get the Sideshow Host item to take Swanky's place in endurance and quizzes. When any other player plays it, they pay $250 to you instead of the bank. (Can steal this role from another player)
- 16 times: Game over, you can pick any 2 different prizes.

When playing a bonus bonanza quiz, after you've paid your $250, draw a Swanky's Bonus Bonanza card. (Once there are no more cards left to draw, shuffle the discard pile to re-use.) If you can answer the card's question completely and correctly, you win the prize the card states. These are memory-based questions related to things currently happening in the game (such as what cards players are holding or what levels they have recently built), so keep a sharp eye and mind throughout the game if you want to be prepared for the various possible quizzes. (If the quiz is impossible to complete because of the current game state, you can draw a new card.) As you make guesses, you can have other players tell you if you are correct so far. After you're done playing, put the card face-up on top of the Swanky discard pile. The full list of possible quizzes can be found in the appendix on page 36.

All Brothers Bear spaces have this same effect (their only difference is for items, etc. which refer to a Brother Bear in a specific world on the board). When you land on this, draw several Bazaar's General Store cards. The number of cards to draw depends on what place you're currently in (most levels built) and how many players are in the game:

- 2 players: 1st place draws 3, 2nd place draws 4.
- 3 players: 1st place draws 3, 2nd and 3rd place draw 4
- 4 players: 1st and 2nd place draw 3, 3rd and 4th place draw 4.

(Only the player whose turn it currently is draws cards. If there's a tie between 1st and another player, both are 3.)
Depending on the cards you draw, you can do these things:

- Animal, environment, or resource card: From the supply, you can buy up to 3 copies of this card for its listed price. (The more rare the card is, the higher the price will be.) If there are no more left of a certain card in the supply, take one from your opponent who has the most (if it's a tie, your choice) and pay the listed price to them instead of Bazaar.
- Item: You can buy this item to keep in your inventory to aid your on your adventure. Pay its price, listed in the bottom-right corner, and take this card directly from Bazaar. The number of inventory slots it uses up are listed in the bottom-left corner. You can drop an item at any time if you don't want it anymore, but you can only get money for it if you sell it (or trade to another player) when you're at Bazaar's again. Items you sell to Bazaar will get you half of their listed price in cash. Some items are 1-use only, or another specific number of uses; once an item has 0 uses left, it must be returned to the Bazaar discard pile immediately. You also can't buy and sell the same item on the same turn. The full list of items can be found in the appendix on pages 36 and 37.
- Other: If not a material or item, read the card for more details.

You can additionally do these things at Bazaar's store:

- Sell any material cards or items you have to Bazaar (the supply) for their full listed price.
- Make physical trades with other players, either for material cards, money, tokens, items, or a combination.
  Other players cannot trade with each other on your turn, only with you.

Once you're done, put all the Bazaar cards you drew (and didn't keep for yourself) face-up on top of the Bazaar discard pile. Once there are no more cards left to draw, shuffle the discard pile to re-use. Finally, keep in mind that all Brothers Bear spaces have the same function; their only difference is for certain items or other cards which mention a specific Brother Bear by name and/or world.

When you land on this, lose 1 of your lives. If you are now at 0 lives, you must un-check a certain amount of the oldest unsaved levels that you've built. You also lose "!" for these levels. The amount you lose depends on what place you're currently in (most levels built):

- 1st place adds a 4-side and 8-side die
- 2nd place adds a 4-side and 6-side die
- 3rd place adds two 4-side dice
- 4th place rolls a 6-side die

(Your total during this can be modified with a banana bird – see page 11) Then, reset your lives back to your Kong's starting life count.
This is usually the only space that you can't use a golden feather to avoid landing on.

These spaces only exist when Klubba's "K. Rool's Krap" ability is being used. They act similarly to bonus spaces, but you draw a K. Rool's Krap card, guaranteed to make a mess of a situation for one or multiple players. At the start of the game, the Klubba player will decide one DKC, DKC2, DKC3, and ANY bonus space to cover up with the 4 K. Rool spaces (which will remain in place for the whole game – they can never be removed, including by Chunky's punching, Klubba's ability being disabled, etc.). Any abilities, items, etc. which generally refer to bonus spaces or bonus cards (such as peeking at bonuses early, blocking effects of bonuses, giving them to other players, etc.) also include K. Rool's Krap.

All players begin the game on this space. When you pass over this space during your movement, you can perform 1 of these actions:

- Receive an amount of money depending on your character (listed on your character card).
- Save some of your levels, according to the same rules as other Candy's Save Point spaces (see page 8).
- In rare cases, you can choose to do a specific Start space action from a character ability.

However, if you land on the Start space, you can do all of these actions at once, plus you are able to manage your character abilities like other Candy's Save Point spaces.

There is a rare situation where you might get carried by another character during their movement, either due to an item or ability, and they carry you past or onto the Start space. In this case, you don't get the effect of the Start space; you can only get this effect during your own movement roll.

Queen Banana Bird

You land on this space whenever you go to it; the exact number from a movement die roll is not needed to land on it. When you land on this, you can give Queen Banana Bird any or all of the banana birds you are currently holding, even if they are flipped (see page 11). For each 1 bird you give her, return it to the supply and add a tally to the Queen Banana Bird section on your level checklist. Unlike levels, tallies you get from doing this are not lost if you lose all your lives. Once you've completed her quest by giving a total of 20 birds, you can't give any more.

King K. Rool Kaptain K. Rool Baron K. Roolenstein

These spaces are where you will fight K. Rool. You land on these spaces whenever you go to them; the exact number from a movement die roll is not needed to land on them. Under usual circumstances, before you are allowed to enter, you must make sure you fulfill these requirements, depending on the fight you want to start:

Fight	Space	Enter from	Requirements	Cranky
Gang-Plank Galleon	King K. Rool	Vine Valley	Build all DKC levels	Chimp Caverns
K. Rool Duel	Kaptain K. Rool	Krem Quay	Build all DKC2 levels besides Lost World	K. Rool's Keep
Krocodile Kore	Kaptain K. Rool	Krem Quay	Get "!" in all DKC2 levels	Lost World
Kastle KAOS	Baron K. Roolenstein	Pacifica	Build all DKC3 levels besides Krematoa	KAOS Kore
Knautilus	Baron K. Roolenstein	Pacifica	Get "!" in all DKC3 levels	Krematoa

The prerequisite levels for these do not need to have been saved. Once you're on the space, you fight K. Rool. Keep repeatedly rolling a 6-side die (each roll can be modified with a banana bird if you want – see page 11), until you either get a 1 or 6* (for Gang-Plank Galleon, rolling a 5 is also successful). On a 1, lose a life and end your turn. On a 6, you win the fight and receive "X" for that final boss level (mark on your level checklist). If you defeated him on the first roll of your first attempt of this fight, receive the "!". The "!" can also be earned by buying a tip from Cranky (you need to have either built the K. Rool level or have fought and beaten him already, but doesn't have to be both). The world you can go to Cranky's Cabin in for each final boss is listed in the "Cranky" column above. Unlike levels, "X"s you get from beating K. Rool are not lost if you lose all your lives.

Additionally, just like in the DKC video games, after beating certain K. Rool fights you might have to watch the credits. For each of the 3 main game bosses (Gang-Plank Galleon, K. Rool Duel, and Kastle KAOS) if you are the first player to beat this boss, lose your next 3 turns while you watch the credits.

306% COMPLETE

You can only enter the finish space if you have all 142 levels on your level checklist checked off and have achieved "!" for all of them (but they don't need to be saved), you have gotten your 100-point Kong Kollege diploma, completed your scrapbook, completed Queen Banana Bird's quest, and have beaten all 5 K. Rool fights. When you arrive here, you win the game! The other players can decide if they want to stop, or keep playing to see who finishes 2nd or 3rd (in that case, you are removed from the game; return your material cards, money, lives, tokens, items, and other things to the supply).

Brrose, Juliano Souza

Tokens

These little pieces, which you can pick up from token spaces on the board, can help you accomplish useful tasks during gameplay. Maybe you'll want to spend them as soon as possible, or hold onto them for several turns so they generate income for you ($20 per token at the end of each turn). You can hold multiple copies of a token type. But, each token takes up 1 inventory slot, and each character can only hold a certain number of tokens (marked on their character card). You can also pay up to 3 tokens of any type when you visit Cranky, Candy, or Wrinkly to get 1 extra life per token. (If you give banana birds, must be unflipped, and you completely give away the bird, don't flip it.)

camera pieces

You can use camera pieces almost any time during your turn. It copies an opponent's material card so you also get 1 (take it from the supply). If there are no more left of that card in the supply, take one from your opponent who has the most (if it's a tie, your choice) and pay them the cost printed on the card. Once you've used a camera piece's ability, return it to the supply.

The only time you can't use a camera piece during your turn is immediately after a bonus/item/ability effect has been announced which will resolve this turn but hasn't yet. For example:

- You draw a bonus card that will make you lose your camera pieces. You can't use them before you lose them.
- You draw a bonus card that will make all opponents lose their Enguarde cards. You can't use a camera piece to copy their Enguarde before they lose their Enguardes.
- If you intend to use an item during your turn which would make all opponents lose their Enguarde cards, you should use a camera piece to copy an Enguarde before using that item, not "during".

golden feathers

You can use a golden feather after rolling for movement to change your base roll by -2, -1, +1, or +2, in order to help you land on a specific space you want. However, you can't dodge a Lose a Life space by using a feather. There also exist some items and character abilities which might put something on a space that you can't dodge landing on. Under normal circumstances, you can't use a feather to decrease your roll to any lower than 1. Can only use 1 feather per 1 movement roll. Once you've used a golden feather's ability, return it to the supply.

banana birds

Banana birds are useful for changing dice rolls in nearly any situation besides your movement roll. For any of the kinds of rolls listed below, after you perform the roll, you can use 1 banana bird to change 1 roll by -2, -1, +1, or +2:

- Your roll for "!" after you've built a level
- Your roll for a bonus card that you or an opponent pulled
- Your roll for a character ability (yours or an opponent's)
- Your roll during an Expresso Racing event at Cranky's
- Your fishing hook (8-side die) in Funky's Fishing
- Your roll caused by your item or an opponent's item
- Your roll during a Swanky's endurance game
- Your roll during a Swanky's bonus bonanza quiz
- Your roll to see how many levels you lose from a game over
- Your roll during a K. Rool fight

Can only use 1 bird per 1 roll. After you use a banana bird to change a roll, don't send the token back to the supply; instead, flip it over (so the bird is not showing). Once a bird is flipped over, it still takes up space in your inventory, but you can't use its ability again, and it doesn't generate any income for you. Finally, throughout the game, you need to bring 20 banana birds (they can be flipped or not flipped) to Queen Banana Bird's space as a requirement before you can win (see page 10).

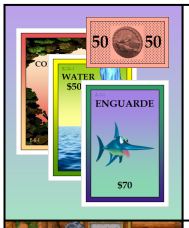
crystal coconuts

You can use a crystal coconut at Candy's Save Point to be able to switch out your character abilities, or if you pay 3 at once, gain access to your character's unlockable ability (see page 8 for more details). When you use one, return it to the supply.

Shenaniganza

Building Levels

Building all the trilogy's levels is what you'll be working towards throughout the entire game. With a few exceptions, you can generally build levels in any order you want, but there are some specific requirements and other important steps to note:

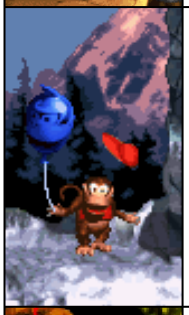


Requirements

To build a level, you need to have each of its required material cards, listed next to it on the level checklist. For example, to build Coral Capers, you need to have a Coral Reef card, a Water card, and an Enguarde card. (However, there exist some bonus and item cards which might let you take shortcuts to omit some of the cards.) You'll also need to pay a certain amount of money, from $50 to $350, according to which world the level is found in. When building a Lost World or Krematoa level, 2 bonus coins are also required.

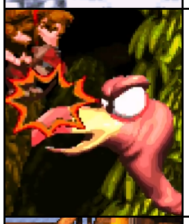
Paying

Return the required material cards to the supply. Pay the required cash to whoever has built this level first. If no one else has built it, pay it to the bank. For Lost World and Krematoa levels, pay the required 2 bonus coins to the bank.



Getting "!" in regular levels

In order to get 306% complete and win the game, you also have to have "found all of the secrets" in each level. In this board game, whether or not you happen to find all of the secrets in a level when you first complete it is determined randomly. When you build a level, roll a 6-side die (can be modified with a banana bird – see page 11). If your roll's value is equal to or higher than the level's "secret difficulty" (indicated by the number to the left of the level's name), then you "found all of the secrets" in the level, and mark that on the checklist with an "!" in the box to the left of the secret difficulty number. (This means that you will always get "!" for levels with a secret difficulty number of 1, and never get "!" for those with 7.) If you don't get "!" on your first try, then you'll have to head to the Cranky's Cabin of that world to get the "!" later on. (What about levels where their world doesn't have a Cranky's Cabin in it? In those exceptions, see page 7.)

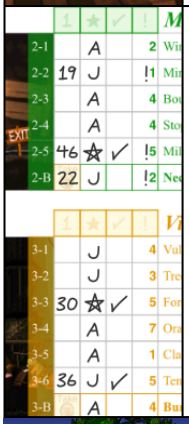


Getting "!" in boss levels

You also need to get "!' for boss levels in exactly the same way, but instead of representing secret-finding, "!" represents defeating the boss without getting hurt. (Although this isn't a requirement when playing the actual DKC video game series, it is here for consistency between the levels.) The difficulty number in this case represents how tough the boss is to beat. If you don't get "!" for the boss, you also "get hurt" and choose 2 inventory slots' worth of stuff to lose (that doesn't apply for final bosses).

Getting "X" and "!" in final boss levels

Final bosses will require you to get both an "X" and an "!". The "X" represents defeating the final boss, and the "!" represents doing so without getting hurt. However, you don't roll for these immediately when you build the level. Instead, you'll need to go to the proper space to fight K. Rool. (See page 10 for the details for the King K. Rool, Kaptain K. Rool, and Baron K. Roolenstein spaces.)



Rewards

Once you've built the level, find it on your level checklist to mark that you've built it:

- In the 1st column, write its number, indicating what number level it is that you've built so far.
- In the 2nd column, write a star if you were the first player to build this level.
- The 3rd column is used for writing a check mark once you save your levels at Candy's Save Point.
- In the 4th column, write a "!" once you've successfully received "!" for this level.

If you built a boss level (except for Krocodile Kore and Knautilus), receive a bonus coin. If the boss level required 2 Boss cards, instead receive 2 bonus coins. Finally, when you build the level Stronghold Showdown, you also receive a Gunship card (which takes up no inventory space, and can't be bought, sold, traded, or lost in any way until you build K. Rool Duel).

Level Checklist

Your level checklist is an essential tool for indicating how much you've progressed, seeing what levels you can build, and planning out your future strategy. Here's an example of what your level checklist might look like partway through the game:

Use these columns to indicate your current building status for each level:

1. Once you build a level, here you should write what number level it is for you. (The first level you ever build will be 1, final level will be 142.)
2. Write a star if you were the first player to build this level. (If you weren't, you might want to write the initial of the player who did build it first, so you can quickly see who to pay once you do build it.)
3. Write a check mark here once a level has been saved at Candy's Save Point.
4. Write a "!" here once you've successfully received "!" (found all secrets or no-hit the boss) for this level. The number in the box indicates the secret difficulty (the number you'll need to roll equal to or higher).

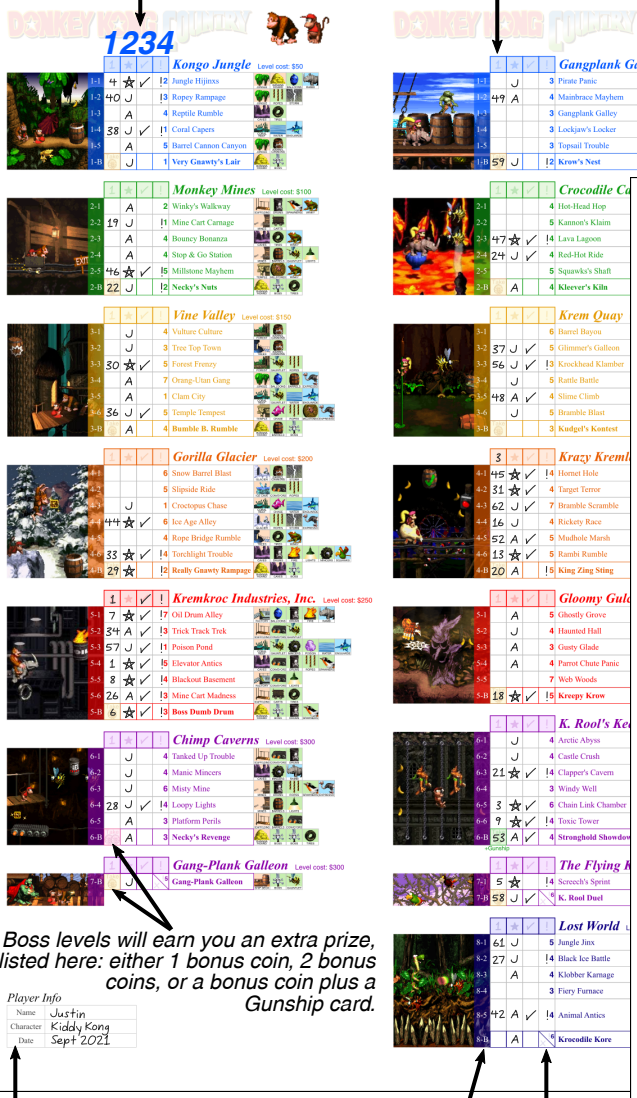
When you build all the levels in a world, you can check off the world's box, and likewise when you've saved all levels in a world or gotten all "!".

Each level requires you to pay a bit of cash (and sometimes bonus coins), listed next to the world's name.

Front



Boss levels will earn you an extra prize, listed here: either 1 bonus coin, 2 bonus coins, or a bonus coin plus a Gunship card.

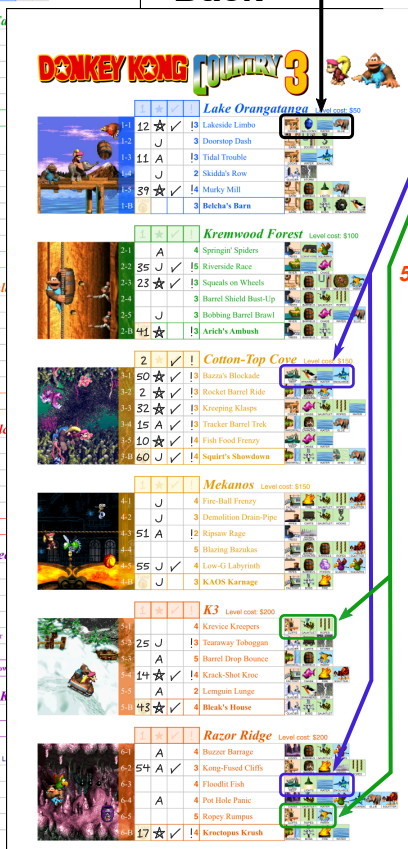
This number is the level's "code", useful for quickly referencing a level on the checklist if you're not as familiar with every level's name in the whole series.

Here, you can make note of some important information about yourself and the game.

Final boss levels include an "X" to mark when you've beaten that K. Rool fight on the board.

Back

Indicates what material cards you'll need to spend in order to build the level.



This materials list is for your convenience, and has multiple features. Each part of the list (Environments, Resources, and Animals) has several useful columns:

1. List of all card types
2. Which games (DKC1, 2, or 3) is this card type needed for?
3. How many cards of this type are needed in total (to build all levels)? If you want to keep track of this, you can either count up from 0, or down from the max number.
4. A wish list. If there happen to be any levels that youhave almost all the cards for, you can write those last few cards you're seeking here, as a reminder. For example, if you have a Coral Reef, Water, and Enguarde card, then you're one away from building either of these levels. Or, if you have a Cliffs and a Ropes card, then you're one away from building either of these levels. In these cases, you could write in the wish list column as shown, and then erase those marks as soon as you get the cards you want.
5. Scrapbook. Place a check mark next to a resource when you've added it to your personal scrapbook (see the Wrinkly's Kong Kollege section on page 8 for info on how to do this).

Write the names and point rewards of homework assignments you've completed in this list. (You only need to get 100 points to get your diploma, not fill out every line in the list.)

Write tallies here for how many out of the 20 total banana birds you have rescued and brought to Queen Banana Bird.

Team Mode

In addition to the standard free-for-all, you can alternatively choose to play it as 2 teams of 2 players. (Must decide at the start; can't switch between modes in the middle of the game.) Both players on a team share 1 level sheet* and work together to contribute levels to it – so in theory, the game should likely be finished twice as fast. Some notes about team setup and how the game's various features work:

Super Mario Wiki

- *Both teammates (also referred to as "partners") can write on 1 level sheet if they want, or have 1 sheet per player (as long as you ensure both sheets' info is the exact same). When you build a level, it becomes built for your teammate too. Don't need to mark what team built it first; cash you pay for levels simply goes to the bank.
- If some text says "levels you've built" (in the past), it means whatever's completed on your sheet, so it includes levels your partner built. If it says "build some levels" (in the future), it only includes ones that you yourself will add to your team's sheet.
- Text that says "opponents" doesn't include your teammate; text that says "other players" does include them.
- Each team receives a special duo ability card at the start, depending on the combination of characters. Unlike solo character abilities, duo abilities don't have any ability points, core or unlockable status; and they're always full-game, never getting swapped out. However, each player also gets their own solo ability loadout as usual. The full list of duo abilities can be found in the appendix on page #.
- Teammates sit across from each other, so that 2 teammates don't normally take their turns right after the other.
- Each player has their own personal inventory of their character's normal size. You can't freely trade with your teammate whenever you want. You can throw things to your partner if the 2 of you are "within range" of each other on the board. For this, refer to both of your character's "Range" value on your character card and add both players' ranges together – you must be that many spaces away or closer. (This range also applies to certain character abilities.) When you're in range, you can throw things to them, but they can't throw to you, and the only things you can throw are materials, but any amount you want. To trade anything besides materials, you must go to Bazaar.
- Wrinkly's Kong Kollege: 100 points of homework and all materials scrapbooked for your team combined, not per player. Your teammate doesn't contribute to the completion criteria of the assignment you're currently working on, and you only draw and turn in your own assignments, not your teammate's.
- Bazaar's General Store: You can freely trade with your partner here, including giving cash, bonus coins, animal tokens, or anything in your inventory. However, you're never allowed to trade with your opponents.
- Queen Banana Bird: Bring her 20 banana birds for your team combined, not per player.
- When you pass the Start space, besides the usual options of taking cash or saving levels, you can alternatively choose to take a DK Barrel bonus item – this can bring your teammate to your space, useful for getting them away from danger, or keeping them in range to throw things to them more effectively.
- You and your teammate should try to agree and work together whenever possible, but in case of resolving a dispute where both teammates have a mutually exclusive want, flip a coin to decide.

Bonus Details

Certain bonus barrel cards tell stories so detailed and long that they won't fit on a small card, so they will refer you to this section to get the full information. The titles are in alphabetical order. Don't read them yet, unless you don't care about spoilers…

Betting It All

After putting all his bananas on black, Diddy stares blankly as his roll fails and he's yelled at to leave the casino. That was everything he had; he's lost the car and the mortgage. With his wife and kids gone, Diddy sits in his powered-down bungalow and thinks back on how things could've gone differently. Maybe they'll go differently for you…? Each player bets on a different number from 1 to 20 (you choose first, continues to the left) and puts up 3 inventory slots worth of stuff. Then, you roll a 20-side die. If someone's number is matched, they win all the stuff; otherwise it's lost to the house.

Dusty Photo

Showing the photo you found to the rest of the Kong family, you learn that this is Donkey Kong's long-lost father, who fought in the great Kremean War. Dawned in full military attire, you are inspired by his fighting spirit and will automatically win "!" for the next boss level you build. You also lose a turn in memory of this great figure of simian history, but gain 3 lives.

Fortune Street

Roll a 6-side die:

- 1-2 = You can lose 3 levels to get a free level.
- 3-4 = You can lose 2 levels and pay $1000 to get a free level.
- 5-6 = You can lose a level and pay $500 to get a free level.

Any levels you lose will also lose their "!", star, and save status.
Angelo won't trade boss levels or Lost World/Krematoa levels.

Funky's Armory

Choose to buy one or more of these freshly stocked weapons in the shop (all 1-time immediate use):

- Kong Knife ($20): If an opponent is 10 spaces from you or closer, close-range disrespect them and steal a 2-card level they've built but you haven't. (They lose the level and you get it, including its current "!", star, and save status)
- Peanut Sheriff ($80): High-impact with a lot of rekoil. Roll to move again; you can either go forward or bounce backward that many spaces, and land on the space (can use golden feather).
- Coconut Odin ($320): Powerful enough to shoot through walls, including bonus room entrances. All levels you build this turn will automatically win the "!" roll.
- Pineapple Operator ($450): Long enough range to snipe opponents from anywhere on the map; make all opponents lose 1 life.

You can also spend $8855 to buy a cool-looking skin pack. (Has no gameplay benefits)

Green Ninja

Donkey: "I think I'm destined to be the green ninja."

Diddy: "No way man, I'm totally the green ninja."

Lanky: "OOK, I know the green ninja's gotta be me, dummies!"

Sensei Cranky: "Shut up, none of you idiots are the green ninja. According to the prophecy, it will be Kip from DK Barrel Blast."

Everyone: "But SENSEIIII..."

All players simultaneously spin 20-side dice. The player whose die spins the longest takes the title of green ninja, master of the 4 elements, and can take 4 different resource cards of choice.

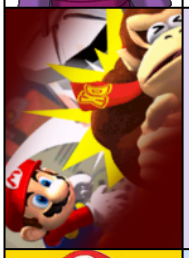
Kong Family Reunion

At the reunion, you attempt to make small talk as your uncle Funky introduces you to all your distant step-cousins and creepy uncles. "Yeah, bro, that dude is Dread Kong… There's your great uncle Cactus King… Stay away from Sumo Kong, he doesn't do well with the youngins…" An awkward tension is building in the room, thick enough to cut with a knife. Wandering down a hallway, the disturbing realization creeps into your mind that these strange simians could be deeply connected to your life. You have to get out, you think to yourself, as you struggle to breathe. Or perhaps your difficulty breathing is because of the strange smell that you notice as you approach a closet at the end of the hallway…

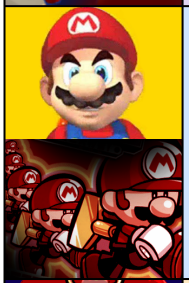
Upon opening it, you discover the dead body of Cranky, and an unconscious DK Jr. lying next to him, gun in hand. The police show up and immediately arrest Jr., but he desperately denies it – he was framed by someone on the dark side of the Kong family! Can you be the voice of reason and defend him?

Using your lawyering skills to find the real culprit, spend a resource card to use as evidence to prove Jr. couldn't have done it. It turns out the gun was never fired, and that card is in fact the real murder weapon. Choose an opponent who has a copy of that card to be sentenced as the real killer; lock them up in jail for 3 turns and gain the Attorney's Badge bonus item. But, if sufficient evidence can't be found (no other player has a resource card you have), Jr. gets declared guilty, and you lose 2 lives and your reputation. Either way, no one can use Cranky's Cabin spaces for the next turn, but afterwards he is resurrected through the Kong-rain channeling technique.



Mario vs. Donkey Kong

Place Mario 25 spaces behind you. After your movement rolls, Mario moves using your die plus an 8-side die. If you are caught by Mario, lose 2 lives and warp back to the Start space (no Start space effect). Mario will disappear on his own after 5 turns of not catching you, so if you manage to escape him, you can build any 1 regular level in any of the games' first 3 worlds for free (no money or cards). While running from Mario, you can't warp elsewhere on the board, but you can use speed-increasing items. Also during this time, whenever you land on Cranky's Cabin, Candy's Save Point, or Wrinkly's Kong Kollege, you receive 1 life for free.

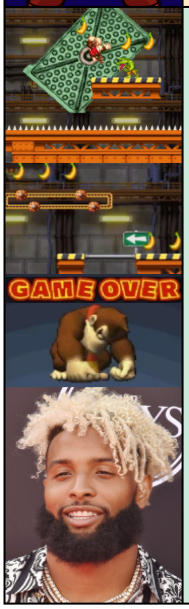


Mario vs. Donkey Kong 2: March of the Minis

Using the diabolical Mini Marios, Mario attempts to purge all Kongs from the world, except for you, who managed to lay low. Place a Mini Mario 20 spaces behind each opponent. After each opponent's movement roll, the Mini Mario chasing them will roll using that opponent's movement die plus a 6-side die. An opponent who's caught by a Mini Mario loses a combination of lives and turns (their choice) equaling 2. A Mini Mario will disappear on its own after 5 turns of not catching its target player. Opponents get no reward for escaping their Mini Mario. While running away, they can't warp elsewhere on the board, but they can use speed-increasing items. If all Mini Marios successfully catch their target, from the supply, you take as many material cards of choice as you have opponents.

Mario vs. Donkey Kong 3: Mini-Land Mayhem

Mario returns to get revenge on you for "stealing" Pauline! (Actually she's just chilling with you for a fun day out.) But, you have a chance to fend off Mario and the Minis by building as many levels as you can. Place a Mario-and-Minis conglomerate 50 spaces behind you. After your movement rolls, he moves using your die plus a 6-side die. If you are caught by him, Mario will make you suffer… For 5 turns, your inventory is decreased by 5 and you cannot build levels. Mario will only disappear if you can build 5 levels before he catches you. If you manage to escape him, you gain Pauline as an ally (receive the Pauline bonus item). While running away, you can't warp elsewhere on the board, but you can use speed-increasing items.



Panic Factory

With your heart pounding, praying for survival, you grab onto the moving pegboard platform and prepare for the incoming gauntlet of poorly-designed obstacles and rage-inducing enemies. Could that be the finish line ahead…? No, can't get your hopes up just yet. You make the legendary leap off the awkwardly moving conveyor and reach a door. This is it… You've discovered the true meaning of life, and you solemnly prepare to finish the greatest challenge left before you. Upon entering the ramshackle doorway, you see the light… Not a heavenly light, but the creepy, dimly illuminated chasm signaling the start of the Panic Factory's brutal 2nd half. You continue on…

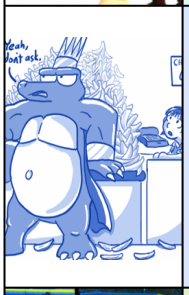
Later, many painful hours later, one last terrifying jump separates you from sweet freedom. With a recent hit to your soul and a newfound regret for life itself, you make the final jump. Suddenly, WHAM-- You're hit figuratively and literally with a sudden jerk, a random hazard at the end of the grueling challenge, as if a cruel joke from the game designers, the doomed fate of your life being the punchline. As you fall towards the inevitable entropy end, all of your effort so far wasted, you curse these forsaken factory walls and the purgatory they've kept you in, letting go of your life as well as the battle-worn L and R buttons. Memories flood to your mind of your beloved Kong family: there's your one true love. And there's your buddy who's been through everything with you. And there's your bro who would fly you to the ends of the earth. And there's your grumpy, never-satisfied grandpa. And there's, uh, Lanky and Kiddy… You realize maybe death isn't so bad as you near the bottom of the abyss.

But it's not over yet. There's still someone who believes in you… It's NFL wide receiver Odell "Hotel" Beckham Jr. from the Cleveland Browns. He makes a 400-yard interception to catch you, saving your life. With his rushing and passing skills, you regain your will to live and finally emerge victorious from the Panic Factory. It's the happiest day of your life. If you have a camera piece (don't need to spend it) you can capture the moment and build a free factory level. Or, if you have a golden feather (don't need to spend it) he can write you his autograph, worth $2000 cash. Or, if you have neither of these, you still get to spend a day with your hero, and gain the motivation to take another turn.

Snapjaw Infestation

From Crocodile Isle, the Kremlings have been overbreeding Snapjaws to use as living weapons, and now the angry fish are infiltrating all bodies of water in the Kremisphere and causing mass hysteria. The new invasive species crisis has led to a newly passed law that allows unlimited hunting of these fish. Hearing about this and fueled with fish-hating rage, DK gets nostalgic for the dark time from his past when he hunted endangered species just for fun. He decides to use creative ways to harvest as many of the invasive fish as possible, and he invites you along. You find that using poison kills the most fish the fastest, even if it breaks a couple of environmental protection rules from the Geneva Kongvention.

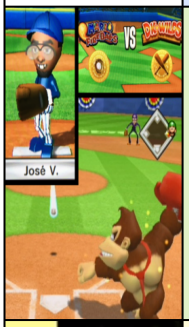
After dumping thousands of gallons of toxic sludge into the freshwater lakes and streams, you and DK begin to see the fruits of your efforts. Hundreds, even thousands of Snapjaws pile onto the shores of the beach. However, out of the corner of your eye, you notice something else emerging from the water. A discolored Enguarde here, a lifeless Clapper there. Schools of Glimmers pile up on the now soiled shores. What have you done?? All opponents lose their Enguarde, Clapper, Glimmer, Water, Chase, Coral Reef, and Waterfall cards. You don't lose any cards, but you lose 3 turns as a jail sentence for complete destruction of the ecosystem. Meanwhile your partner in crime DK has escaped into the dark of night…



Stock Market

Using an illegal pump-and-dump scheme, K. Rool has raised the price of levels until they plummet, crashing the stock market. You get burned from your investments and have a new crippling debt of $2000. Any cash you would normally receive from other players for levels you built first, instead goes into paying off this debt until it's gone.

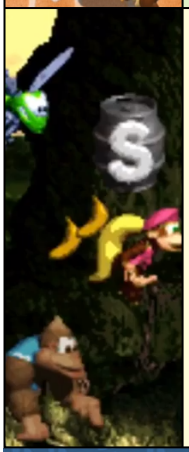
But there's a silver lining – K. Rool's failed monopoly of resources has created a hole that allows you to purchase cards on the cheap. You can choose a level material type (besides Gunship) and buy as many as you can for the whopping price of $5 each. If you're able to completely empty out the supply of that card and hold onto them all at the end of your turn, your debt will be cut in half.



Super Sluggers

The score is 9 for the Mario Fireballs, 8 for your team currently batting, the DK Wilds. There's 2 outs, 3 balls, 2 strikes, 1 runner on base – down to the wire. Mario's team has a pitching change, and he's about to bring out his star closer. With bated breath, you see the final pitcher approaching from the dugout onto the mound. It's none other than the infamous Mii José Valverde a.k.a. "Papa Grande". He winds up and throws the pitch… It's his famous straight shot, thrown at the perfect angle and speed for even the worst of batters to get a guaranteed home run; almost impossible to miss.

Roll a 20-side die: 2-20 = You get the game-winning home run and win the world series; receive $1000 in prize money and take a vacation (an environment of choice). 1 = Having lost your dignity and career, lose 3 turns and your opponent with the fewest levels gets the $1000 and environment of their choice instead.



Switch Barrel

Starting with you and continuing to the left, each player chooses 2 level material types A and B, and then all copies of A owned by everyone will switch to B. Someone can only pick a B if there exists enough copies of it in the game.
For example:

- You decide that all Waters anyone owns are going to turn into Rambis.
- After hearing your choice, the next player to your left decides that all Jungles everyone owns are going to turn into Glimmers. (They can only choose this if, after the switch, 1 or 2 Glimmers will be held in total. They can't pick Water for their A because you already did.)
- After hearing that choice, the next player to their left decides that all Rambis everyone owns are going to turn into Factories.

Once everyone's done choosing a switch, all switches happen simultaneously. So in this situation, Waters would not turn into Factories; only already-owned Rambis would turn into Factories.

Other Important Notes

Spaces and worlds

- When a bonus card refers to your "current world", look at your position on the board. The paths on the board are split into various labeled worlds (for example, right when you leave the Start space, you enter Kongo Jungle). The spaces for King K. Rool, Kaptain K. Rool, Baron K. Roolenstein, "306% complete", Queen Banana Bird, and the starting Candy's Save Point are not located in any world.
- The spaces for King K. Rool, Kaptain K. Rool, Baron K. Roolenstein, "306% complete," and Queen Banana Bird are landed on whenever they are reached; the exact number from a die roll is not needed to land on them. When you leave them, exit onto the same space you entered them from; after that, you can't turn around and immediately go back in.
- You can't normally enter a K. Rool space until you fulfill the requirements for entering (see page 10). You are technically allowed to enter a K. Rool space after you've beaten all the fights there (or Queen Banana Bird's space after you've brought all 20 banana birds), but the space will have no effect.
- When a bonus card or something similar says you can receive "!" for your "current world", there are a few special cases:
  - You can get "!" for Gang-Plank Galleon (final boss of DKC) if you are in Chimp Caverns, but not if you are in the world called Gangplank Galleon.
  - If you are in K. Rool's Keep or The Flying Krock, you can get "!" for both of those 2 worlds.

Turns and movement

- When something tells you to lose a turn, it means the next turn you would take, not the current one. On the turn you lose, you can't do any turn-associated things, including both active (movement, camera pieces, building levels, using abilities/items) and passive (token income, bonuses that apply on your turn, etc.). However, you interact with other players on their turns as normal, so you can still trade with them at Bazaar's, be affected positively or negatively by bonuses, abilities, items, etc.
- For characters whose movement always depends upon a certain ability, if that ability gets temporarily disabled, they revert to a "default" movement roll: Tiny rolls an 8-side die, Taj rolls 10-side, and Xananab adds a 6 and 4-side.
- Referring to getting to another space on the board through some other method besides regular movement, there are 2 types: "warp to" and "land on". Simply warping means the target space's effect does not apply to you. "Land on" means the effect does immediately apply, although it doesn't count as an additional turn (so you don't take extra token income, etc.) unless the text specifies otherwise.
- Some items, abilities, etc. have some effect when you "pass" an opponent's space. Passing over a space specifically means that you begin your turn behind it, and you move from your movement (not from flying/warping) to a space in front of it.

Giving and taking things

- Loaning and owing money are not allowed, including both from other players and from the bank. You are not allowed to make any purchases if doing so will cause you to have less than $0.
- Trading material cards, money, tokens, or items is not allowed except for with a player who has just landed on a Bazaar's General Store.
- Trading lives is not allowed except for when a player buys an "Extra Life" item at Bazaar's General Store.
- If the bank does not have any more money, simply do not take money when certain spaces or cards instruct you to. If you are told to receive money but there is not the correct kind of bill to do so, round down (but first, see if it's possible to make the transaction work by having players exchange their bills).
- If you are receiving or buying a certain card or token of which there are none left in the supply, take one from the player who has the most. If it's a tie, take from closest on your left. When you take a card in this way, pay its listed price to the player you took it from. For a token, pay them $100.
- If you are told to gain something or lose something but it's not specifed whether an opponent chooses or it's picked randomly, then it's your choice.
- Gunship cards can't be traded, stolen, dropped, or given away. For example: When choosing a material card to take from an opponent, you can't take a Gunship. When an opponent chooses a card to give you, they can't give you a Gunship. When you get to choose any material to take from the supply but all Gunships are already owned, you can't take one. You can never hold more than 1 Gunship, and you can't have one if you've already built K. Rool Duel.
- If several players are instructed to receive things at the same time, but the order is not specified, the order should be the person whose turn it is first, then continuing to their left.
- After you obtain a 3-time use item and use it 1 time, if you then sell it to another player, it's not refilled to its max uses; the new owner starts with 2 uses. However, if it ends up in the discard pile, all uses are refilled.

Building and progress

- Building levels without the correct requirements (material cards, money, or bonus coins) is not allowed unless a specific bonus, item, or other special card says you can. Trading levels with other players, or unchecking levels unless required to do so by a special card or getting a game over, are never allowed.
- Although you number your levels as you build them, it is also a good idea to keep track of a separate number that indicates how many levels you currently have. Consider this situation: you have built 100 levels so far, numbered 1 through 100, but then you get a game over and must lose your 10 oldest unsaved levels. For you, these happen to be levels 17, 19, 25, 31, 34, 35, 41, 46, 50, and 55. You now have 90 levels but the highest-number level is 100, so keeping a separate number (which you would now update to 90) is useful so you know what your exact count is (and so you don't have to re-number every level). When you re-build level 17, it will get back its old number (17) (for that reason, you should cross out level numbers you lose instead of erasing them), and importantly, it should not count as your most recently built level.
- Players can't hide how many levels they've built, how much cash they have, how many homework assignments they've completed, how many banana birds they've returned, what's currently in their inventory, and so on. If asked about one of these by other another player (except when the asker is taking a Swanky quiz relating to it), the relevant information should be provided truthfully.
- Text that says "complete a world" or "complete a game" doesn't refer to the board; it means once you've finished building all the levels included in that world or game.

Other gameplay notes

- If you are told to use a banana bird, you don't have to completely lose it (unless giving it away to a Kong family member for an extra life); it just needs to currently be flipped right-side up (its ability is still available), and "using" it means flipping it over. Thus, you can bring it to Queen Banana Bird afterward. However, you can't "use" a banana bird which is already flipped over.
- Text that mentions simply "cards" refers to level material cards unless specified otherwise.
- Text that mentions "items" always includes bonus items and ability items as well, unless the text specifically mentions otherwise.
- Text that mentions "resources" only includes green-and-yellow cards with "RESOURCE" on the back, not animals or environments. (In previous versions of the game, "resources" was the term for the general category including animals, environments, or these green resource cards. But starting in version 4.2, to reduce confusion, the general category is called "level materials".)
- Text that mentions "materials" never includes the fake materials from K. Rool's Krap, unless the text specifically mentions otherwise.
- Text that mentions "DKC" refers specifically to the trilogy's first game, Donkey Kong Country, also sometimes known as "DKC1".
- If you're playing team mode, text that mentions "abilities" (referring to character abilities) always includes duo abilities as well, unless the text specifically mentions otherwise.
- If you are told to choose between things randomly, but it doesn't specify to roll any dice, then you can't use a banana bird to change the outcome.
- Players are never forced out of the game. But, if someone wants to quit, they should remove their player piece and return all of their money, cards, tokens, and so on to the supply.
- At any point during the game, you are always allowed to consult the appendix database to see what abilities, bonuses, items, quizzes, homework assignments, etc. exist in the game. You can also search in discard piles to see what's already been drawn. But, you can't look in already-shuffled piles to see what cards haven't been drawn yet.

K-5	Josh	C	K. Rool will return someday for his revenge! Until he does, you've got nothing to do but sit around - lose 3 turns.	Super Mario Wiki
K-6	Josh	F	Happy opposite day! On each player's next turn, Lose a Life spaces have no effect, but all other spaces instead act like Lose a Life normally does (but golden feathers can be used).	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Badassbill, Garamonde, lbm2431, Mattrizzle, Nemu, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k

K-8	Josh	C	The Gangplank Galleon has been steered off course thanks to your lousy navigating. Place your player piece off the board, 50 cm perpendicularly out from the start space. For your movement, each 1 space you roll moves you 2 cm closer to start until you reach it. K-13	Justin	F	K. Rool uses arcane magic to bring outdated and only-imagined material cards back from the dead! Randomly distribute an equal number of all the fake material cards among all players. The only way to rid yourself of them is to pay Bazaar to take them off your hands.	JP4
K-14	Justin	C	Forced to sit through a 2-hour-long board game development session... You might not be able to hold it in much longer! Roll a 6-side die. 4-6 = Made it to the jungle outhouse just in time. 1-3 = You K. Rool Krap yourself and lose 6 random material cards.	Adobe Stock, Frario, Mattrizzle, Random Talking Bush, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k
K-15	Justin	F	Toga party! Don't you agree this is my most dashing outfit yet? Choose a K. Rool space and place this card next to it. Until someone wins a fight there, the dice roll requirement will be 1 higher than normal, since K. Rool's censoring belt is distracting you.	Super Mario Wiki
K-16	Justin	E	Japanizing Beam! Due to K. Rool's newest weapon, some text now appears Japanese to you. The next DKC, DKC2, DKC3, and ANY bonus cards you draw, you must give to random other players.	Super Mario Wiki

Candy's Save Point (character abilities)

	Initial idea	Ability name	Points	Special	Description	Image credits
Donkey Kong
C-1-1	Josh	Banana Hoard	0	Core	Whenever any player builds a DKC level, instead of the cash going to the usual target, it goes into the banana hoard pile. Any player who naturally lands on the space after Start gets all the banana hoard cash.	DKC Atlas
C-1-2	Josh	Ground Slap	+1		When you land on a material space in a DKC world, you can roll a 10-side die to find an additional prize. 1-2 = $20. 3-4 = $50. 5-6 = $100. 7-8 = You can take 2 of one of the cards from the space. 9 = You can take 2 of all cards from the space. 10 = Camera piece.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-1-3	Josh	Boxing Gloves & Coconut Gun	+1		When rolling for "!" on non-final bosses, add 2 to your roll (automatically win if you have only 1 life).	DonkeyKongApe
C-1-4	Josh	Cargo Throw & Ding Dong	+1		If you land on or pass over an opponent during your move, you can choose to start a cargo throw: stop at the opponent's space (don't land on it), pick them up, and roll for movement again to carry them with you (can't alter this movement with feathers, etc.). If you go over a Lose a Life space during the carry, perform the Ding Dong to throw the opponent onto it, making them lose a life, and then they warp to the space after Start. However, you can only begin a carry if you have 5 open inventory slots, you can't grab the same opponent twice in a row, and the opponent can mash out to escape if they roll 6 on a 6-side die.	LilSmokey, RC Spriter
C-1-5	Josh	Bwananarang	+1		Rabbid Cranky follows you to help you gather more materials. When you first get this card, place him 10 spaces behind you. After your movement roll, roll for his movement with an 8-side die. If he lands on a material space and is at most 10 spaces away from you, he can throw 1 of the materials to you via the Bwananarang. If you want, you can lose a turn to warp him to your space.	DarkStation
C-1-6	Josh	Strong Kong	+2		If instructed by a bonus, item, or opponent's ability to lose something (or combo of things) with printed cash value, you can instead lose something (or combo of things) with equal or higher printed cash value. Cash you give for this ability has 1/2 its normal value. "Instructed to lose" means strictly losing something against your will, not trading/swapping. Doesn't work if you're forced to give up a bonus item, or a material that you're hoarding all of.	Super Mario Wiki
C-1-7	Josh	Bongo Blast	+2	Unlockable	• You get 1 boost per turn, can hold a max of 6 (mark with a 6-side die on this card; when you get to 0 boost, remove the die). Before your movement roll, you can decide to use any or all boosts. Each 1 you use will add 1 to your movement. • Whenever you land on a material space with Barrel Cannons, you can take an extra turn. • Whenever you use Barrel Cannons to build a level while you have this ability, it auto-wins "!".	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-1-8	Josh	Skylanders Legend	-1		Whenever you land on an ANY bonus, you also spend some time guest starring in this beloved toy-based franchise: on your next turn you either choose to not move, or move but the space you land on has no effect.	Amazon, RC Spriter
C-1-9	Josh	Insert Coin to Continue	-1		You must pay a token to save, but you can save double your normal number of levels per Candy visit.	ClipartKey, RC Spriter
C-1-10	Josh	Captured Again	-2	Full Game	When an opponent finishes building a DKC2 or 3 world (not "!"), give them $250 or a card of your choice. When they finish a DKC2 or 3 game (including "!"), give them $1000 and 3 cards of their choice. For both of these, if you don't have enough cash, give all cash you have, and if you don't have enough cards, lose a life.	Super Mario Wiki
C-1-11	Josh	Kanonical Kong	+1		If you build a level while you are in its world on the board, you can keep one of the materials you used to build that level. (If you built it for free from a bonus, etc., take one of the materials it normally requires.)	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
Diddy Kong
C-2-1	Josh	Monkey Flip	0	Core	On your movement roll, you can choose to instead use a 10-side die to do a monkey flip. You can only do this if another player is 10 spaces in front of you or closer. If you reach or pass that player with the flip, you can choose to land on their space. If you don't get far enough, you go into freefall and the space you land on has no effect.	Smashpedia
C-2-2	Josh	Boom Boxing	+1		When you land on a material space in a DKC2 world, you can roll a 10-side die to find an additional prize. 1-2 = $20. 3-4 = $50. 5-6 = $100. 7-8 = You can take 2 of one of the cards from the space. 9 = You can take 2 of all cards from the space.10 = Golden feather.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Deathbringer, The Gamindustrials, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k
C-2-3	Josh	Rocketbarrel Pack & Peanut Popguns	+1		The jetpack can be used when you roll any die to re-roll it; it's 1-time use, recharges when you visit Funky. (Turn this card upside-down when the jetpack is unusable.) When rolling for "!" on all DKC2 levels, add 1 to your roll.	Smash Bros Dojo
C-2-4	Josh	Banana Peels	+2		On your turn, you can spend a banana bird to buy 3 banana peels. A peel can either be set down on your space (lasts until someone runs into it), or thrown exactly 10 spaces in front of you (lasts until someone runs into it, or until your next turn ends). If another player runs into a peel, they slip forward and get +1 on their movement roll. Since you have mastered your control of sliding on banana peels, if you run into one, you can either have this same effect, or land on the space exactly 1 after the peel.	Super Mario Wiki
C-2-5	Josh	Hat Trick	+1		If you build 3 levels in 1 turn, on your next turn, instead of your movement roll, you can land on any space.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, DKC Atlas, Frario, Mattrizzle, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k
C-2-6	Josh	Guitar Gazump	+2	Unlockable	Once every other turn, you can gazump one of the shuffled decks of cards (bonuses, Cranky, Funky, Wrinkly, Swanky, or Bazaar) and peek at the top card(s) (the same amount you would normally draw from that space), then put them back.	RC Spriter, TurflamicGaming420
C-2-7	Josh	Super Golden Feathers	+1		Golden feathers can change your base movement roll by +3 through -3.	Adobe Stock, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-2-8	Josh	Too Fast!	-1		Each thing you buy from Funky, Swanky, and Bazaar costs $10 more.	Keywords Basket, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Wikimedia Commons
C-2-9	Josh	Precarious Saving	-1		When you save, you must save your smallest levels (fewest cards) first, and you can't save from the Start space.	Allegiant Fire Protection, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-2-10	Josh	Hero Mode	-2	Full Game	If you fail a boss "!" roll, lose 3 cards and a life. All "!"s with difficulty 5 or higher get increased by 1 (including Cranky price).	75Chris5, Clyde BlueSnake
C-2-11	Josh	Golden Balloon Doors	+1		When you receive this ability, choose 8 levels to place golden balloon doors on, numbered 5, 10, 15, 25, 50, 75, 100, 125. (Everybody marks on their level sheets) Your opponents are barred from building those levels until they have already built that door's number of levels since the start of the game. If you drop this ability, the doors you placed become inactive; if you pick up this ability again, they become active again - you don't place new doors.	RC Spriter, World of Longplays
Dixie Kong
C-3-1	Josh	Southern Slang	0	Core	Bazaar products are each $50 more expensive in the north half of the board (Bazaar, Bachelor, Brash, Blunder, Bazooka, Baffle, Boomer). They are $50 cheaper in the south half of the board (Blue, Bramble, Barter, Blizzard, Benny, Bjorn, Barnacle).	Encyclopedia SpongeBobia, Garpedia Wiki, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-3-2	Josh	Banana Bird Cave Explorer	+1		Whenever you land on a banana bird space or a Wrinkly's Kong Kollege space, you can perform the actions from both of those space types at once.	Amazon, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-3-3	Josh	Super Banana Birds	+1		Banana birds can change your roll by +3 through -3, and you can send them to Queen Banana Bird from anywhere on the board.	Adobe Stock, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-3-4	Josh	Guitar Solo	+1		When you land on a material space in a DKC3 world, you can roll a 10-side die to find an additional prize. 1-2 = $20. 3-4 = $50. 5-6 = $100. 7-8 = You can take 2 of one of the cards from the space. 9 = You can take 2 of all cards from the space.10 = Banana bird.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Badassbill, Deathbringer, DKC Atlas, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k
C-3-5	Josh	Primal Instincts	+1		At the end of your turn, you can spend a crystal coconut and choose an opponent: on their next turn, you will temporarily take control of them. Roll their movement dice, and decide where they will go on path splits and whether they will spend a golden feather. Once they land on a space, they get control back.	Novocom.top, RC Spriter, Supercarlosvillar, Super Mario Wiki
C-3-6	Josh	Ponytail Twirl	+2		Roll an 8-side die for all "!"s instead of 6-side.	Steve Mayles, Super Mario Wiki
C-3-7	Josh	Bubblegum Bassoon	+2	Unlockable	You get 3 pieces of bubblegum (mark with a 6-side die on this card; when you reach 0, remove the die). After your movement roll, you can use 1 or multiple; each decreases your roll by 1 (can't go negative; can be combined with feathers). Can be refilled at the Start space instead of taking money or saving.	The Instrument Place, NicePNG, RC Spriter
C-3-8	Josh	Hair in Your Face	-1		If your movement roll is 10 or higher and reaches a path split, you must take a random path. If you use a golden feather, you can choose your path.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-3-9	Josh	Donkey Kong's Birthday Celebration	-1		Whenever you land on Cranky, you must wrap up a present for when DK's birthday arrives. (Everyone else was too lazy to get any presents.) You can give $250 or any item, token, or level material card.	JohneAwesome
C-3-10	Josh	Overachiever	-2	Full Game	• Whenever you complete a world, lose a turn or 3 material cards to babysit Kiddy. • Because you want to get onto the Kong Kollege honor roll, you have to do 40 extra points of homework assignments (in team mode, your teammate can help contribute to this).	Raymond Geddes, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Thomas Haines, University of Maryland
C-3-11	Josh	Controlled Descent	+1		Whenever your movement roll lands 1 space past a path join, you can instead choose to land on 1 space before the join (not the direction you came from). Next turn, you continue forward as usual.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Badassbill, Davias, Deathbringer, Garamonde, Mattrizzle, Mr L, RC Spriter, Simion32, Tonberry2k
Kiddy Kong
C-4-1	Josh	Baby's College Fund	+1	Core	Amount of money you gain from the Start space is the number of turns since you last passed Start, squared.	Gerber Life, RC Spriter
C-4-2	Josh	Child Labor Laws	-1	Core	You can only build 1 level per turn.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Designing Buildings Wiki, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k
C-4-3	Josh	No Adult Consequences	+1		When any player draws a bonus card, after you see it, if there is a negative part of it that affects you, you can pay $100 to ignore that part.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Can Stock Photo, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k, Trash Can Warehouse, Wookieepedia
C-4-4	Josh	Uncle Funky's Help	+1		After you visit Funky, your next turn's movement roll can be changed by +3 through -3 (but not if you land on Lose a Life). Can be combined with a golden feather.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-4-5	Josh	Steel Barrel Riding	+1		Instead of rolling for movement, you can spend a Barrels card to move forward to land on Start. Any opponents you pass over during this will lose a turn. In team mode, if you pass over your partner, they come along with you to Start but don't land on it.	RC Spriter
C-4-6	Josh	Crushing the Competition	+1		If you land on an opponent's space, you crush them: choose whether you take a life of theirs or 2 material cards of their choice. If an opponent lands on your space, they neither move any distance nor land on a space this turn.	Blow the Cartridge
C-4-7	Josh	Music Box Lullaby	+1	Unlockable	Whenever you roll "!" for a boss, you get 2 attempts for the "!". If the first roll succeeds, all opponents fall asleep and lose a turn.	DonkeyKongCGuy

C-5-4	Josh	Monkeyport	+1		When you get this ability, place 2 monkeyports, each one on the first space of a world. On any turn, before your movement roll, you can spend a banana bird (flip it over) to first warp to a monkeyport - but, you need to have fully completed the world that monkeyport is in (built all levels and gotten "!"). You can spend a crystal coconut at Candy's to move the monkeyports.	Super Mario Wiki
C-5-5	Josh	Feather Bow	+1		Once during your turn, you can spend a golden feather to shoot an opponent who is up to 4 spaces away from you. When you hit them, warp them away from you, the number of spaces being the total of 2 20-side die rolls. You choose where they go at path splits. If they pass over a Lose a Life space, you can make them stop and land on it.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-5-6	Josh	Backstabbing	+1		Whenever someone else draws a bonus card and you are affected strictly negatively by it, after they're finished, you can immediately draw that same bonus card yourself.	Know Your Meme, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Themiseducationofb
C-5-7	Josh	Can't Fit in Frame	+2		Opponents can't use camera pieces on you. When you use camera pieces, if you want, you can take the card from the other player, but you must choose a card to give them. C-6-1	Josh	Spitting Image of Roadkill	0	Core	Before your movement roll, you can play dead; the rest of your turn is skipped, and while you're playing dead, you can't be targeted or affected in any way. C-6-2	Josh	Clowning Around	+1		You can swap your tokens for other token types at any time, for $100 each. (Can't swap out flipped-over banana birds.)	Josh98, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-6-3	Josh	Balloon Animals	+1		Before your movement roll, you can instead decide to discard 1 to 6 animal cards. For each one, pick a different size die (4, 6, 8, 10, 12, or 20) and roll them all at once, picking which one you want to move with, either forward or backwards (can use golden feather).	Clipart Library, DK Vine
C-6-4	Josh	Shoddy Level Design	+1		You can "guesstimate" when building levels requiring 5 or more cards: you can omit 1 of the required cards, but then the level can't be saved (mark the save column with an X, and circle the material you missed). Later on, you can contribute the card you missed (in team mode, your partner can too), and the level will become saveable again. You can win the game with guesstimated levels.	Carls493, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-6-5	Josh	Grape Shooter	+1		When you land on a space, you can shoot a grape onto 1 space behind it. When anyone runs into the grape, they land on the space before it, then it disappears. Once it's gone, you receive it again when you reach Start.	Bamboo Import Europe, PinClipart, RC Spriter
C-6-6	Josh	Baboon Balloon	+2		Instead of your movement roll, you can pay $400 to land on another player's space.	The Green Blur
C-6-7	Josh	Trombone Tremor	+1	Unlockable	Whenever an opponent builds a level you've already built, they can't take any shortcuts via a bonus, item, or ability, and they always fail the "!" roll.	TurflamicGaming420
C-6-8	Josh	Doesn't Fit In	-1		You can't trade with other players at Bazaar's General Store (except for trading bonus coins with your partner in team mode).	AJ Nitro, KnowYourMeme, Old Man GigaChad, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-6-9	Josh	Yoink	-1		When you draw a bonus card, an opponent can look at it and then take it if they want, but they must pay you $250 and give you the next bonus card they draw. If multiple opponents want it, randomly determine which of them will get to buy it. When a card X is yoinked from Lanky and Y is given to him in return, Y cannot be yoinked.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Versiris
C-6-10	Josh	Stolen Lunch Money	-2		Each turn, you must give some of your money earned from tokens to an opponent of your choice (either 25% of the money or $50, whichever is smaller).	LumpyTouch, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, WebstaurantStore
C-6-11	Josh	OrangStand	+1		He can handstand if he needs to, and stretch his arms out just for you. Whenever your movement roll lands 1 space past a path split, you can choose to have all effects from all of the space choices (but pick only 1 of the spaces to put your character on).	GrapePixelArt
Chunky Kong
C-7-1	Josh	He's Dead	0	Core	Lives and saving don't apply to you. Whenever you land on a Lose a Life space (not losing a life for other reasons), flip a coin and call a side; if you chose wrong, lose a level of choice. Each level can only be lost once, so keep track of any ones you've lost.	Brentalfloss
C-7-2	Josh	Disco Chunky	+1		Whenever you visit Candy, you practice in the dance studio and get shmoovin': on your next turn's movement roll you can go either forward or backward (decide after rolling).	Forbes, Geno2925, RC Spriter
C-7-3	Josh	A Gambling Man	+1		If your movement dice match, take another turn immediately after this one's done. If you get a 2nd match, take another turn. But, if you get a 3rd match in a row, you lose 3 turns and a level of choice (see "He's Dead").	RC Spriter, SAB64
C-7-4	Josh	Hunky Chunky	+1		Instead of rolling for movement, you can choose to spend a golden feather to land on the same space you're currently on.	Jimmy Young, RC Spriter, Sporkinator
C-7-5	Josh	Gorilla Gone Tax Evasion	+1		When building a level, if no one has built it yet, you don't have to pay any cash.	Lemurboy12, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-7-6	Josh	Triangle Trample	+1	Unlockable	When building a level, if a Gauntlet card is required, you can replace it with any 1 material card.	Supper Mario Broth
C-7-7	Josh	Pineapple Launcher Deforestation	+2		This ability costs $20 per turn to own. You start with a max of 5 pineapples (mark with a 6-side die on this card; when you reach 0, remove the die). You can refill them for $50 each at Funky's. Whenever an opponent lands on a space with environment(s), you can shoot a pineapple to take one of the environments (their choice) and give them one of yours. You must still need a level with the environment you're taking, and must currently own 0 of it. Can't target the same opponent twice in a row.	Xdraws
C-7-8	Josh	Irreversible Momentum	-1		Golden feathers can only change your base movement roll by +1 or -1.	Nintendo Life, PerilousPeanut, RC Spriter
C-7-9	Josh	Insulin Price Spikes	-2		Chunky must inject insulin to curb his crippling diabetes. Just your luck, Swanky has a new side hustle where he is testing out his newly refined medical skills. You must regularly visit Swanky spaces to get your insulin fix, or else you start to get woozy: if it's been 35 or more turns since you last visited him, then the next time you pass over Swanky, you must stop there, and can't partake in the minigames that turn. Whenever you visit him, pay for insulin, whose price increases on each visit: the first time it's 1% of your total cash, then rises by another 1% on each subsequent visit. If you lose this ability and/or pick it up later, the percent you were at is remembered, unless it was below 5%, in which case it jumps up to 5%.	Bremo Pharmacy, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-7-10	Josh	Scaredy Cat	-1	Full Game	Roll a 4-side die for non-final boss levels' "!" instead of 6-side.	Donkey Kong Wiki, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-7-11	Josh	Sandwichium Knucklus	+1		You can destroy any non-player pieces (for example: Mini Mario, Monkeyports, B. Locker, etc.) just before you pass on their space during movement. Roll a 4 or higher on a 6-side die to punch it, removing it from the board. If it's from a player, it returns to their inventory (if it's something they place once, like Golden Taj Monument, they can place it again when they visit Candy). If it was holding things like cards or tokens, they go in the supply. You can punch a player you pass onto in the same way; if you succeed, they can't use any choose-when-to-use abilities on their next turn.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, TransparentJiggly64
Taj
C-8-1	Josh	Land, Sea, or Sky	+1	Core	Each turn before movement, you can choose which 1 of 3 different movement roll options you will use: • Car: 10-side die. • Hovercraft: 20-side die, but goes down a random path at path splits. • Plane: 2 20-side die added together, but instead of moving forward to land on the space, you warp there and the space has no effect. Can't use the plane again until you visit Funky and pay $50 to refuel.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-8-2	Josh	Weapon Balloons	+3	Core	You have a shuffled deck of 27 balloon cards (9 blue, 6 red, 6 green, 3 yellow, 3 rainbow). Whenever you land on a material space, you can draw the top card from this deck instead of one of the material cards you'd receive. Once the deck runs out, reshuffle them. Balloon cards can be discarded or traded, but not sold or stolen. Only you can spend them to use their abilities, and only if you're holding them.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-8-3	Josh	Red Balloon	0	Core	On your turn, you can spend: • 1 red: Warp a player in your world to the first space of the world. • 2 red: Same as above, and they lose a material card and a turn. • 3 red: Warp a player in your world to Start (no effect), and they lose 3 cards and a turn.	Super Mario Wiki
C-8-4	Josh	Blue Balloon	0	Core	On your turn, after your movement roll, you can spend: • 1 blue: Add a 4-side die and move ahead to land on that space instead. (If you used plane, it's a full land instead of plane's usual warp. If you used hovercraft, path splits don't need to be random.) • 2 blue: After your turn's over, immediately take another turn. • 3 blue: Instead of landing on this space, roll a 6-side die and skip that many worlds ahead (landing on the first space you'd reach in the last world).	Super Mario Wiki
C-8-5	Josh	Green Balloon	0	Core	On your turn, you can spend: • 1 green: If there are no other players up to 20 spaces behind you, drop the oil slick onto a space you left this turn. Anyone who runs into it triggers it and you get the oil slick back; if it's another player, they drop 5 inventory slots of stuff onto the space (whoever passes the dropped stuff next picks it up). • 2 green (Option A): If there are no other players up to 20 spaces behind you, drop the mine onto a space you left this turn. Anyone who runs into it triggers it; if it's you, you get the mine back. If it's another player, they must keep the mine in their inventory (4 slots) until they reach Start, and then you get it back. • 2 green (Option B): Omit 1 required resource card when you build a level. • 3 green: If there are no other players up to 20 spaces behind you, drop the bubble onto a space you left this turn. The next 3 times anyone runs into it, they trigger it. If it's another player, they get stuck on its space (space has no effect) and they lose their next turn. Once it's been triggered 3 times, the bubble returns to you.	Super Mario Wiki
C-8-6	Josh	Yellow Balloon	0	Core	Spend: • 1 yellow: Dodge a bonus card someone pulled so it doesn't affect you. (If they chose for it to affect you, they can't now pick someone else) • 2 yellow: You're invincible from all negative effects until start of your next turn. (Previous effect auto-applies, don't lose lives, don't lose things when failing "!" or final boss rolls) • 3 yellow: When you are at 0 lives, spend 3 yellow to refill your lives back to their starting amount.	Super Mario Wiki
C-8-7	Josh	Rainbow Balloon	0	Core	Before your movement roll on a turn, you can spend a token to activate the rainbow balloon magnet. After you move (can't use a golden feather), if you spent: • 1 rainbow: Any opponents up to 10 spaces away from you get pulled 3 spaces towards you. Anyone who's now on your space gives you a card of your choice. • 2 rainbow: Any opponents up to 15 spaces away from you get pulled 5 spaces towards you. Anyone who's now on your space gives you 2 cards of your choice. • 3 rainbow: Any opponents up to 20 spaces away from you get pulled 5 spaces towards you. Anyone who's now on your space gives you an item of your choice. You can only use 1 rainbow balloon effect per turn.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-8-8	Josh	Golden Taj Monument	0	Core	When you receive this ability, choose any unlocked space to place the Taj monument. It can hold up to 3 level material cards; any player who lands on it (if it's an opponent, must be a natural roll) receives the cards. Whenever anyone builds a level, they can choose a card to contribute to the monument; if it overfills, you decide what card gets discarded. You can spend a crystal coconut at Candy's to move the monument to a different unlocked space.	iStock, RC Spriter, Sid
C-8-9	Josh	Ivory Poaching	-1	Core	Resources from your body are a very lucrative commodity on DK Island. Whenever you land on a Lose a Life space (not losing a life for other reasons), each opponent can choose to immediately warp to your space (not landing on it) and take $100 from you.	BBC News, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-8-10	Josh	Wrong Warp	+1		You have guru-like knowledge of secret glitches on the board. Whenever you lose a turn, you can warp to the first space of any world. Whenever you are told to lose multiple turns, you only lose 1 (this include credits, but not Wizpig).	The Easter Egg Archive, Ferrox, GameTripper, RC Spriter
C-8-11	Josh	Genie Lamp	+2	Unlockable	While you're holding the lamp, when you leave a space (in a world), you can place the lamp on it. At the start of each of your turns, you can warp to the lamp before your movement roll, if you choose a material card to give to an opponent. The lamp loses its effect after 3 uses, until you pick it up again (pass by it naturally). While you have this ability, can't receive money or save from passing Start.	LongplayArchive, RC Spriter
C-8-12	Josh	Duties of the Kwik-E-Mart Discount Genie	-1		• In all trades you do with opponents at Bazaar's, the total cash value of the things you give must be higher than the opponent's. • Also, during the game, each opponent gets 3 wishes; on their turn, before movement, they can first use 1 wish to warp to your space and choose 1 material card or item to take from you. Even if you lose this ability, they still get wishes.	GhostKoMochi, RC Spriter, Screen Rant, Super Mario Wiki
C-8-13	Josh	Wizpig's Wrath	-2	Full Game	Wizpig will be summoned to duel you in 3 different death races: once when your last DKC level gets built, and likewise for DKC2 and DKC3. When a race begins, Wizpig starts 40 spaces behind you. Each time after you roll for movement, he moves 10 plus a 20-side die. (While running away, your positive non-core abilities have no effect, and you can't warp elsewhere on the board, but you can use speed-increasing items.) Each time Wizpig passes you, lose a life. After he has moved 5 times, the race ends: if he's in front of you, he wins, and you lose $1000, 5 turns, and all lives. If you win the race, get $10.	Nintendo Life
C-8-14	Josh	Rubber Banding	-1		If you currently have the most levels built: • Bonus spaces will only give you $100 instead of a card, • You only draw 2 options at Bazaar's, • And all boss "!" rolls are 1 harder (including price at Cranky's). C-9-1	Josh	Peg Climbing / Slippery Fingers	+1	Core	Use 4 dice to roll for movement: green 6-side, green 4-side, yellow 4-side, and orange 4-side. Take the following steps when moving: 1. Roll the 2 green dice and add together. You can land on this space, use a golden feather (can't use in other steps), or keep rolling. 2. Roll the yellow die and add that to the previous total.* You can land on this space, or keep rolling. 3. Roll the orange die and add that to the previous total.* You can land on this space, or take what you rolled in step 2. *If this roll is a 1, you slip and go to the space from step 1, but don't land on it. If any of your roll options land on Lose a Life (unless the roll was a 1), you must take it.	Anima Sword, GamesRadar, RC Spriter
C-9-2	Josh	Climbing Collision	-1	Core	If one of your steps during Peg Climbing lands on an opponent's space (can't use a feather to dodge), you stop rolling, don't move, and lose this turn.	Anima Sword, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
C-9-3	Josh	Mmmmm, Banana	-1		If an opponent lands on your current space, give them $300 to distract them from eating you.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-9-4	Josh	Going Bananas	+1		Before your movement roll, you can spend $200 to become invincible: the space you land on will have no effect, and any opponents you pass over will lose a turn.	4asno4i, Adobe Stock, AliExpress, Everyday Health, RC Spriter
C-9-5	Josh	Rainbow Banana	+1		Before your movement roll, you can spend a banana bird to power up: you move with the sum of 8 4-side die rolls. To start, you can go forwards or backwards, and you can go in any direction at path splits (except where you came from).	Adobe Stock, iStock, RC Spriter
C-9-6	Josh	Banana Plantation	+1		For each 4-or-more-card full level you have in your inventory, you earn $20 for it each turn you keep it in your inventory. You must still need to build the level, and can't share cards between levels.	Bloons Wiki
C-9-7	Josh	Planet Plantaen	+1		If you bring 3 or more banana birds at once to Queen Banana Bird, you can either send a Xananab-bot or an opponent to a K. Rool space (even if it's locked). If you send the bot, it takes its turns after you, and stays there until it beats 1 K. Rool fight on that space (it can't lose lives), then it disappears. If you instead send an opponent, they must stay there until they beat a K. Rool fight (can't use banana birds, but can lose lives), and they get no reward. If they fail a fight, they can spend 3 tokens to be allowed to leave.	Kjsteroids, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-9-8	Josh	Bananaphone	+1	Unlockable	You have people to call when you're in trouble, to erase history and make the bad disappear. All you've gotta do is ring that phone. If you make the call at the end of your turn, all events that happened get undone, and your turn is skipped. To recharge the phone, visit Funky and pay a crystal coconut. (Turn this card upside-down when the phone is unusable.)	iStock, Teh Meme Wiki
C-9-9	Josh	Xananab Jr.	+1		On your turn you can send out Jr., who will move backwards from your current space. Each turn after your movement roll, you can choose whether he rolls with the 8, 10, 12, or 20-side die. He picks up materials and tokens from spaces he lands on, and stops after he's moved 3 times. When you go around the board and reach him again, you pick up Jr. and the things he's collected.	DKC Atlas, iStock, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-9-10	Josh	Down, But Not Out	+2		If you naturally roll a 1 with the yellow or orange die during Peg Climbing, don't go ahead to that space, and don't lose your turn. Instead, roll a 6-side die and move backwards from where you've rolled to so far (land on the space).	Jumpropeman, RC Spriter, SeashoreWar
C-9-11	Josh	Molding	-1		Your body slowly decomposes over time, making your gameplay less effective. If it's been 35 turns since you were last refreshed, you get moldy: your inventory shrinks to 23, and whenever you must lose a life, you lose 2. Whenever you visit Queen Banana Bird, you refresh back to the natural Banana Man body.	Barewalls, Delightful Adventures, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-9-12	Josh	Missing Spirowarps	-2	Full Game	An additional goal you must complete before winning the game is to find all your missing Spirowarps: • Cranky's in Pacifica: For sale for $100 once you've got 1st in all Pacifica levels. • Funky's in Gloomy Gulch: An additional 20-side die when fishing. • Candy's in Kremwood Forest: For sale for a crystal coconut. • Wrinkly's in Kremkroc Industries, Inc.: Turn in any 1 completed homework assignment here for no points to receive the Spirowarp as extra credit. • Swanky's in K3: Replace any endurance prize (6 or more rolls) or any quiz prize with the Spirowarp. • Baffle's Code Room in KAOS Kore: For sale for $500.	Anima Sword, Lotos, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
Klubba
C-10-1	Josh	Klubba's Kiosks	+1	Core	+1 kiosk. When you get an ability that includes additional kiosks, you can place those kiosks on any space in a world. 2 kiosks can't be placed right next to each other, nor in the same world. Whenever an opponent lands on a kiosk, they must pay you $50; after the space's normal effects apply for them, you can then warp them to the first space of the Lost World.	Super Mario Wiki
C-10-2	Josh	Warp Barrel Bayou	0	Core	At the start of the game, decide where to place your excess warp barrels to drastically alter the board's path flow. For each of your 2 warp barrels, choose any world (except The Flying Krock) and place it on that world's last space (for Kremkroc Industries Inc., it's the Lose a Life space). When any player (or other moving piece) moves forward from that space, they must warp to the other warp barrel. Any combos which result in an unescapable loop aren't allowed (see the rules for a complete list). You can move the warp barrels to different worlds if you land on a kiosk and spend a token.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-10-3	Josh	K. Rool's Krap	0	Core	Klubba doesn't like to take sides in the Kremling Kongflict, but K. Rool (Klubba's employer) demands you spice things up with some of his own bad bonuses, crafted to bring more khaos and karnage. At the start of the game, place 4 K. Rool Krap spaces, each on a different kind of bonus (DKC, DKC2, DKC3, ANY). Can't place them in Kongo Jungle or The Flying Krock. Whenever anyone lands on one of these (can't use a golden feather to dodge it), they must draw a K. Rool's Krap card (and you take a $5 wage from the bank).	B1bl1kal, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-10-4	Josh	Stuck on Crocodile Isle	-1	Core	Funky can only fly you to DKC2 worlds (but you still draw from the deck as normal).	Barack Obama, Deathbringer, Fabio, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
C-10-5	Josh	Bonus Coin Barterer	+1		Bonus coins are not required for you to build Lost World and Krematoa levels. (This overrides any cards that say "bonus coins required".) However, you should still collect them in case you get rid of this ability. Whenever you receive a bonus coin, also receive $50. If you have Kremling Kutthroat, you don't have to get "X" for Lost World and Krematoa levels.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Barack Obama, Deathbringer, FischHead, Michael Peterson, Mr L, RC Spriter, Tonberry2k
C-10-6	Josh	Get Out of My Swamp!	+1		If another player lands on a material space with Swamp, you can swap spaces with them. If you do, they choose the 1st material they receive from the space, then you can choose one of the remaining 2 to steal, then they receive the 3rd.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, YurtleButler
C-10-7	Josh	Golden Warp Barrel	+1		+1 kiosk. Whenever you leave a kiosk's space, you can warp and continue movement on the first space in the Lost World. If you land on a kiosk, you can instead choose to land on any Lost World space. Once you've used this ability, it is disabled until you reach Start again.	Ibm2431, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-10-8	Josh	Bag a Bug	+1		+1 kiosk. Whenever an opponent lands on a kiosk, in addition to all other effects, they must first play your vile Bag a Bug minigame: • First they pay 3 material cards to you (or $100 per card if they don't have enough). • They roll a 6-side die while you roll a 10-side. • If you roll higher or tie, they lose and the game ends. • If they roll higher, they bag 1 bug and play another round. • If they roll a 6, they get invincibility and can't lose the next 1 roll. • Both players can use banana birds to change their rolls. • Once the game ends, you pay the opponent 1 material card from your inventory for each bug they've bagged (or $75 per card if you don't have enough).	Super Mario Wiki
C-10-9	Josh	Crocodile Isle Garbage Collector	+1		On your turn, you can pay $500 to choose one of the top 4 cards in the Bazaar discard pile to scavenge. You don't have to pay its normal listed price. If it's a material, you can choose to take 1 copy. If it's an item or other miscellaneous Bazaar card, you can draw it as long as you (and your teammate in team mode) haven't used that item yet during this game.	Donkey Kong Wiki, New York State Official Website, RC Spriter
C-10-10	Josh	Klubba's Klub	+1	Unlockable	Each time someone who's 15 spaces or closer to you builds a level, you can keep one of the material cards used to build that level instead of it going back to the supply.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-10-11	Josh	Souped-Up Toll Booths	+2		Instead of your movement roll, you can pay $400 to land on another player's space.	Altermentality, Amazon, RC Spriter, Target
C-10-12	Josh	Pirate-Themed Photographer	-1		You can only use camera pieces to copy a player's card if that player is currently in a DKC2 world, and you can only use camera pieces to copy materials which appear in DKC2 levels.	Etsy, Pinterest, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
C-10-13	Josh	Bear-Hater Alligator	-1		Klubba and the Brothers Bear aren't on super-friendly terms ever since... "the incident". If you land on Bazaar's, in order to enter the shop you must first pay $100, you can't buy materials, and anything you sell will only get you half usual price (so 25% for items, 50% for materials).	Andrey_Kuzmin, B & H, FontsGeek, The Game Theorists Wiki, Jerseygirl, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, VectorStock, The Verge
C-10-14	Josh	Kremling Kutthroat	-2		Not having been playable in a DK game before (or even appearing inside any levels), while he has this ability, Klubba is required to go the extra mile and beat levels before he can build them. Beating final bosses works as normal. For all other levels, when you're about to build it, roll for its "X" difficulty (equal to its normal cash price divided by 50). If you get lower than the required number, you fail, don't get to build the level, and must try again on a later turn. Also when you fail, roll a 4-side die and lose a life if that roll is a 1. If a bonus, etc. says you get to build a free level, you auto-beat it.	DarkMech, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki

Team mode duo abilities

	Initial idea	Character Combo		Ability name	Description	Image credits
D-1-2	Josh	Donkey Kong	Diddy Kong	Barrel Train	Whenever one of you lands on your teammate, you can choose to activate the barrel train. While riding in it, both of you add your dice together during movement rolls (you move together, but only the player whose turn it is gets the space's effects). Once you reach Start, you stop and land on it, exiting the train (your teammate lands on Start on their next turn instead of rolling for movement). Any opponents you run over with the train lose a turn. If you've ridden the train 20 turns in a row (Donkey and Diddy combined, such as 10 Donkey, 10 Diddy) without reaching Start, exit the train. Can't cancel the train by choice.	Super Mario Wiki
D-1-3	Josh	Donkey Kong	Dixie Kong	Kong Pow Chicken	If one of you builds a level while in range of an opponent, you can smack them with a Kong Pow. Place a $100 bill or an extra life (your choice) on their space; the next player to pass onto it receives it. If you use the ability again, the previous collectible on the board disappears.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-1-4	Justin	Donkey Kong	Kiddy Kong	Unprecedented Muscles	The DKC series' wimpy bosses are no match for your insane combined simian strength. When you're in range of each other, all your boss "!" rolls (including final boss) will be 6.	Da_Boz_Tiger, RC Spriter, Smiguli
D-1-5	Josh	Donkey Kong	Tiny Kong	Token-Hungry Team	Whenever one of you uses a token effect (only copying a card, changing movement roll, or increasing bonus roll) the other player can use the same effect on their turn for free (only 1 shared effect per turn). Must be in range of each other when the first player uses the effect.	ClipartKey, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-1-6	Josh	Donkey Kong	Lanky Kong	Broke Buddies	Frequently getting their assets stolen from other players, Donkey and Lanky have come up with a scheme to avoid losing money. If an opponent uses an item, ability, or bonus effect to take money from you, you can refuse to pay up, but you must roll a 6-side die: if you get a 1-2, the police come and take double the money owed (the opponent takes what they are owed, and the rest goes into the banana hoard).	Amazon, Nexus Mods, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Toronto Metropolitan University
D-1-7	Josh	Donkey Kong	Chunky Kong	Funky's Armory	During the game, each of you can buy permanent weapon upgrades at Funky's by giving him 3 of your own banana birds. If you're Donkey, purchase Homing Ammo for when you have Coconut Gun applied, which auto-wins "!" rolls for bosses, and auto-beats K. Rool if you have only 1 life. If you're Chunky, purchase an Ammo Belt which has unlimited ammo for Pineapple Launcher (no longer need to pay $50 each time) and removes the need to alternate opponents.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-1-8	Josh	Donkey Kong	Taj	Donkey Kong Racing	Taj and Donkey are teaming up to bring back this mysterious forgotten racing game. Whenever you build a level requiring a Chase card, you can substitute in any animal instead of the Chase.	Grupobsg, RC Spriter
D-1-9	Justin	Donkey Kong	Xananab	Powerful Potassium Craving	Donkey has just enough willpower to stop from eating Xananab, but his cravings still pull him like a magnet whenever that banana scent is nearby. During Donkey's movement, he can go backwards at a path split (not the same direction he came from) if Xananab is 25 spaces away or closer along that path.	CaptainQuack64, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Swiig
D-1-10	Josh	Donkey Kong	Klubba	Monkey Bucks	Donkey and Klubba have come together to make their own cryptocurrency. Whenever Donkey passes a kiosk, he takes $100. When Donkey has taken $5000 in total from the kiosks, the market becomes volatile and he loses all money he has (unless it's in an Offshore Banana Hoard), then his counter resets to $0 taken.	Barack Obama, Blockchain Council, Freepik, Karan, Imgur, InterCounty Supply, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
D-2-3	Josh	Diddy Kong	Dixie Kong	Goal Target	Dixie can use Guitar Solo when she builds DKC2 levels, and Diddy uses a 12-side die when Boom Boxing (11 and 12 both give a golden feather).	Super Mario Wiki
D-2-4	Justin	Diddy Kong	Kiddy Kong	Hungry for a Good Game	Before Diddy's movement roll, Kiddy can chew on Diddy's Nintendo game system, making it temporarily malfunction so Diddy is unable to use the controller. Diddy's roll will be 0 that turn, landing on the same space he's currently on. This starts at 1-use only, but every 5 levels your team builds, Kiddy's hunger increases, meaning your number of available uses of this ability goes up by 1.	Daniel Cenci Dietrich, Games We Played, Gametrog, Labelsnes, RC Spriter, Retropyxel, Super Mario Wiki
D-2-5	Josh	Diddy Kong	Tiny Kong	Skimming Off the Top	Whenever one of you builds a level, if your teammate is in range, the teammate can take one of that level's required cards. At the end of the teammate's next turn, the card disappears if it hasn't been used yet.	AJ Nitro, Ant19831983, Deathbringer, DKC Atlas, Frario, Garamonde, Mattrizzle, Mr L, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
D-2-6	Justin	Diddy Kong	Lanky Kong	Amazing Acrobatics	Monkey see, monkey do: Diddy's gotten good at imitating Lanky's wacky handstands, and Lanky's training to become a crazy cartwheeler. Whenever you're in range of each other, on your movement you can roll both your dice and your teammate's, and choose whether to use Diddy's or Lanky's for your movement (can use a golden feather). Must discard a material card to use.	Mario Wiki, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-2-7	Josh	Diddy Kong	Chunky Kong	Bet It All on Black (and Red)	During Swanky's Endurance, for each roll, Diddy and Chunky can both roll their die at the same time and go with the larger number; however, 1 and 2 are both fail if you do this. If you win, still only the player whose turn it is gets the prize(s).	Cruise Critic, Custom Table Felt, Hatfreesk.xyz, IndiaMart, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-2-8	Josh	Diddy Kong	Taj	Tribute to Timber Island	Diddy and Taj can build optional Diddy Kong Racing levels. Whenever they complete 1 of these levels, they can use it in place of 2 regular required levels in the game. Each requires a Carts, Chase, any 1 balloon of Taj's (he discards it, regardless of who's building the level), and the following materials: • Hot Top Volcano - Volcano, Fire • Bluey's Slide - Glacier, Ice Cave, Boss • Crescent Island - Ship Deck, Ship Hold, Water • Haunted Village - Forest, Castle, Ghosts • Boulder Canyon - Waterfall, Castle, Water, Poison The 2 levels you choose to receive after completing a Timber Island level must each have a material requirement equal to or smaller than the Timber Island level you built.	ProsafiaGaming, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, XCageGame
D-2-9	Josh	Diddy Kong	Xananab	Hammer, Torch, & Wings	Every time you pass go, one of you can take an available one of these 3 bonus items instead of taking money, saving, or taking a DK barrel: • Hammer: For one Barrels level (not a final boss), you don't have to pay cash for it and you auto-beat "!". • Torch: Can be used in place of Fire plus one other resource in a level you're building. • Wings: At the start of your turn, can use this to pull 3 Funky cards and fly (warp) to the first space in of any of those worlds (then you roll for movement).	iEmoji, Pngimg, Pngtree, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Vecteezy, World of Longplays
D-2-10	Josh	Diddy Kong	Klubba	Arrrrrrrgh!	With a tense but honorable rivalry, these mateys never pass up an opportunity to show off their fluency conversing to each other in pirate speak. Whenever one of you builds a Ship Deck, Ship Hold, or Rigging level, flip a coin: Heads = Keep 2 of the level's required cards, but must give them to your teammate. Tails = Same, but only 1 card instead of 2.	HGProductions00, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-3-4	Josh	Dixie Kong	Kiddy Kong	Crushing Throw	On Dixie's turn, if Kiddy is within range of Dixie, Dixie can choose to throw Kiddy at an opponent, crushing them. The opponent must be within double her range. If Kiddy doesn't have Crushing the Competition equipped, he simply warps to the opponent's space with no other effects.	FabianLeonardo, RC Spriter
D-3-5	Josh	Dixie Kong	Tiny Kong	Ponytailnado	When flying from Funky's, you can fly to an unlocked space 1 space outside of the range of the available worlds.	Mattrizzle, PNGWing, Random Talking Bush, RC Spriter, Small Mario Findings, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
D-3-6	Josh	Dixie Kong	Lanky Kong	Southern Spirit	Whenever your team completes a world whose spaces are a majority in the southern half of the board, you can both take an extra turn. (Includes Cotton-Top Cove, Crocodile Cauldron, Gloomy Gulch, Gorilla Glacier, K3, Krazy Kremland, Krem Quay, K. Rool's Keep, Lost World, Pacifica, and Razor Ridge)	Frame Masters, How to BBQ Right, Leoks, Nibroc-Rock, Pornsawan Baipaokdee, RC Spriter, Serious Eats, TransparentJiggly64, Wikipedia
D-3-7	Josh	Dixie Kong	Chunky Kong	Rock 'n' Roll Triangle Solo	Whenever Chunky builds a level using Triangle Trample, he can roll a 6-side die for an additional prize: 1-2 = $50, 3-4 = $200, 5 = Keep one of the level's required cards. 6 = crystal coconut. Whenever Dixie rolls a 7-12 with Guitar Solo, she can choose to take a Gauntlet instead of the usual reward.	123FreeVectors, Diuky, RC Spriter, Turtle-waifu
D-3-8	Josh	Dixie Kong	Taj	Broken Genie Lamp	Whenever one of you (not both) is about to warp somewhere (besides flying via Funky's Flights or Taj's plane), you can choose to have your teammate go there instead. Also, before or after the warp, Dixie and Taj can swap places (if the target spaces are unlocked for both players).	LongplayArchive, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Vecteezy
D-3-9	Josh	Dixie Kong	Xananab	Extra Stage Experts	During the course of the game, after building a level you can choose to make that level buildable by only one of your opponents (decide which opponent immediately when you build). Your team can do this 11 times.	Anima Sword, Frario, Mr L, RC Spriter, World of Longplays
D-3-10	Josh	Dixie Kong	Klubba	Big on Bonus Coins	Whenever one of you builds a level requiring Boss, for each Boss card it requires, that player takes an extra turn right away.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-4-5	Josh	Kiddy Kong	Tiny Kong	Amateur Aviators Club	Dixie's trading the cousin-babysitting duties to her sister, and now Kiddy and Tiny have grown super-close - and pretty decent at helicoptering. When flying from Funky's, in addition to the normal location options, you also can choose to go to your teammate's space (if it's unlocked for you).	RC Spriter, VladyslaV Travel Photo, Super Mario Wiki, Wikipedia
D-4-6	Josh	Kiddy Kong	Lanky Kong	Brutally Bullied	When the two of you are in range of each other, you don't have to pay any money for Unpopular Reputation or Stolen Lunch Money.	Chucha16, RC Spriter, Roseyhyena
D-4-7	Josh	Kiddy Kong	Chunky Kong	Brothers in Arms	Since birth, even through the tough times, these brothers have always had each others' backs. If one of you loses a life and your teammate loses a life on their next turn, they can build 1 level for free (bonus coins still required). The life-losing has to either be from naturally landing on a Lose a Life space (no golden feather) or from bonus cards.	Grosrouvre, RC Spriter
D-4-8	Justin	Kiddy Kong	Taj	Blue Buddies	Kiddy can also draw balloons from Taj's deck when he lands on material spaces, but he can only use the blue balloons' effects (he can throw the others to Taj when in range).	RC Spriter, Videos80sRemastered, Super Mario Wiki
D-4-9	Josh	Kiddy Kong	Xananab	All but Forgotten	Whenever you buy something at Cranky's, Funky's, Swanky's, or Bazaar's, for each product/service you purchase, you can roll a 6-side die. If you roll a 6, the salesperson forgets a little something: that thing you bought is free.	RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, VectorStock
D-4-10	Justin	Kiddy Kong	Klubba	Baby's New Rattle	Curious Kiddy will sneakily take anything he can get his hands on as a new toy. Klubba's too busy during the day with his toll booth job to notice, but he'll get his stuff rightfully back at night. Kiddy: On your turn you can take an item or the Klubba's Klub ability from Klubba. Klubba: On your turn you can take that same item (if he still has it) or ability back. Regular rules still apply for items when it comes to inventory space and limited number of uses.	AJ Nitro, Davias, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-5-6	Josh	Tiny Kong	Lanky Kong	Uncanny Ability	At the start of the game, you can each choose one ability from a character not currently being played in the game (you don't have to equip it immediately, you're allowed to equip/unequip that ability during the course of the game). The ability you choose has to be a +1, and can't be unlockable or core. (It still counts as a +1 in your ability loadout.) Also can't choose any which would be game-breaking (such as Taj's abilities involving balloons, or any of Klubba's involving kiosks).	GameTripper, Novocom.top, RC Spriter, Sonocomics, Super Mario Wiki
D-5-7	Josh	Tiny Kong	Chunky Kong	Antonymous Apes	At the start of the game, Chunky and Tiny each choose 1 game (DKC1, 2, or 3) to specialize in. If one of you builds a level in the game that your teammate specializes in, this ability disappears. But as long as you keep it going, for every 6 levels your team build in your combined specialties, you can build 1 level for free from the unchosen game. For the free levels you earn, must start with 2-card levels, then go up to 3's when all the 2's are built, etc. And although the free levels don't require materials, cash, or bonus coins, you still roll for "!".	Ibm2431, Ninbayan, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-5-8	Justin	Tiny Kong	Taj	Starting Fresh	Whether it's a new look or a new voice, these two are no strangers to an occasional design refresh. 3 times in the game, before your movement roll, you can both agree to do a simultaneous refresh: both of you land on Start (for your teammate, they land on their next turn), can swap out abilities that turn for free, can return yourself to the cash amount you started the game with ($2425), and can swap out 3 of your material cards for different ones.	About London Laura, Daletheskater, eBay, Gonzarez1938, RC Spriter, Today I Found Out, Wikipedia
D-5-9	Josh	Tiny Kong	Xananab	Small, but Stronger Together	Whenever the two of you are in range of each other, Xananab doesn't mold (his counter doesn't go up, and if he's currently moldy, the negative effects don't apply) and Tiny doesn't lose 2 lives due to Smashed Like a Bug.	Anima Sword, Eisco Labs, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-5-10	Josh	Tiny Kong	Klubba	Rampant Robbers	If an opponent pays cash for something at a Cranky, Funky, Swanky, or Bazaar space and one of you is sitting on the same type of space, the money paid goes to you. If both teammates are on that space, choose one player to receive the very generously paid money.	AreaEightyNine, GTPlanet, Ignacio Toledo, RC Spriter, Small Mario Findings
D-6-7	Josh	Lanky Kong	Chunky Kong	Omitted Verses	At the start of the game, your team chooses a world. Every time you're building a level from that world, you can choose a required card to omit. Can be combined with Shoddy Level Design and Triangle Trample.	Ash Paulsen, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-6-8	Justin	Lanky Kong	Taj	Circus in Town?	The clown and the circus animal have teamed up to show it's not all fun and games for their opponents. Whenever either of you performs 1 of these 3 feats, each opponent is so impressed that they give the performer $300. • Juggling: Toss 10 or more inventory slots worth of stuff to your teammate in 1 turn. • Heavyweight Lifting: Build 3 levels in 1 turn. • Ring of Fire: Use a golden feather to either dodge or land on a material space with Fire. D-6-9	Justin	Lanky Kong	Xananab	Sacrifice to an Alien God	No being of this earth can comprehend the thoughts and desires of our spherical overlord... But the one in yellow can bring you to His realm, and the one in orange can offer Him a gift, not of style nor of grace, but of eternally funny face. First, my disciples, you must empty your minds, and free yourselves of your worldly possessions. 1 time in the game, if both of you are on Queen Banana Bird and give up all of your cash (each person must have at least $2000) and everything in your inventory (must be full), your team can immediately build 10 levels for free, get "!" for them, and save them (must have bonus coins). D-6-10	Josh	Lanky Kong	Klubba	A Li'l Extra Protein	Whenever Lanky passes a kiosk, if you both agree to it, Klubba can eat Lanky and take one of his lives.	BrothaBlu, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-7-8	Josh	Chunky Kong	Taj	Always Vanishing	When one of you has 3 crystal coconuts in their inventory, opponents can't see that player's inventory. (Can't steal things nor copy with camera piece. Only includes things they own which take up inventory slots.)	LongplayArchive, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki, Vecteezy
D-7-9	Josh	Chunky Kong	Xananab	Keep on Rollin'	If Chunky gets doubles on his movement roll, Xananab can move with 1 additional peg (after orange) on his next turn.	Mattrizzle, Mr L, RC Spriter, SeashoreWar, Super Mario Wiki, Tonberry2k
D-7-10	Justin	Chunky Kong	Klubba	Unbalanced Upper Bodies	Don't call it skipping leg day, call it doubling up on bulking those beefy biceps. Whenever one of you rolls your minimum movement roll (naturally; golden feather can be used after), if they want to, they can use their uncanny arm strength to take the effect of the space they would land on, twice (it still counts as one turn).	Lemurboy12, RC Spriter, Super Mario Wiki
D-8-9	Josh	Taj	Xananab	No Stake in the Series	Having never been even referenced let alone appeared in a DKC trilogy game, they care much less whenever bad things happen. Whenever a DKC1, 2, or 3 bonus causes either player to lose something, they do not if they're within range of each other.	Albertsons, Getty Images, RC Spriter
D-8-10	Josh	Taj	Klubba	Pseudo-Salesmen	Using their business skills, Taj and Klubba attempt to put Bazaar's out of business. D-9-10	Josh	Xananab	Klubba	Portals to Another World	Instead of warping opponents to the first space of the Lost World when they land on a kiosk, Klubba and Xananab can spend 3 banana birds (combined) to have the Planet Plantaen effect of sending an opponent to K. Version history

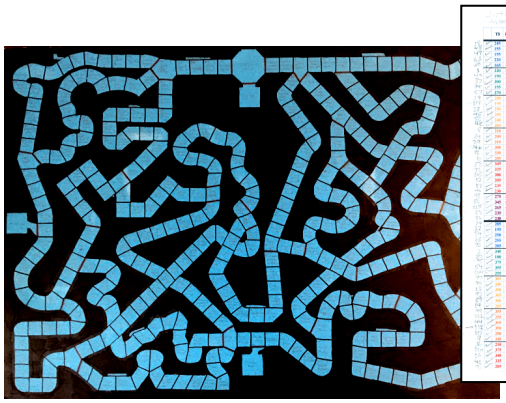
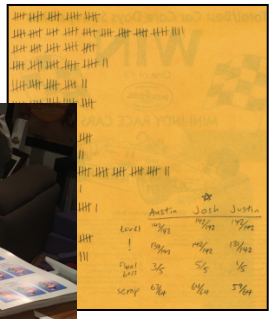
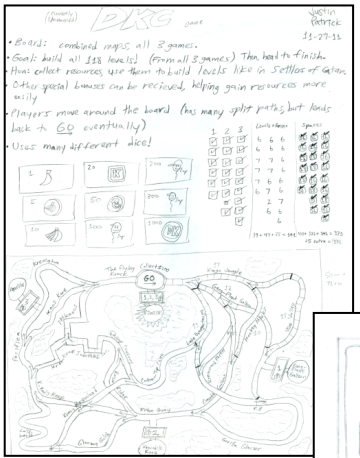
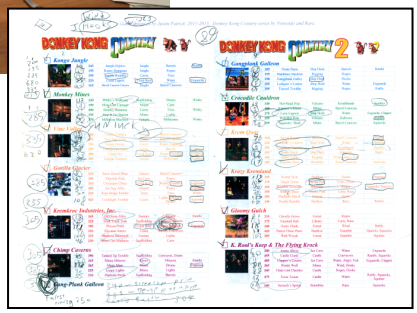
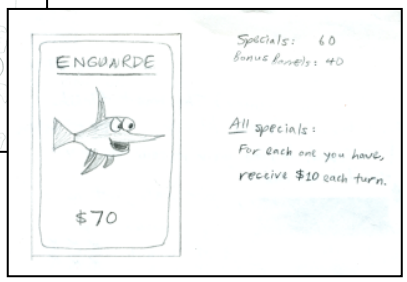
Version	Date developed	Features
v1.0	Nov 2011 - July 2013	The first prototype of the game was developed by Justin in high school. The board included generic spaces like "Receiving Money", "Trading", and "Unlucky", and was drawn by hand on a simple piece of blue posterboard. We've come a long way since then!
v1.1	May 2015	The level checklist was redesigned from vertical into horizontal, showing images of each world's gameplay, and introducing a resources wish list.
v2.0	June 2016 - July 2018	In this version, the complete board with colors and images was designed and printed out. Tokens were given new abilities (instead of being simply income), Kongs were given some new differences, "!"s and extra lives were added, and the various spaces were reworked to be related to various Kong family members. The Hacksaw resource was removed, and Ghosts and Rising Danger were added. And, a new, cleaner rules document was made.
v3.0	March - April 2020	Josh joined in collaborating the board game's design starting here. He introduced the concept of items, boss levels, and character abilities, and created a few new special space minigames. The Banana Hoard, Boss, Storm, and Gunship resources were added, and to fit all of these, some spaces on the board were taped over. This version also marked the debut of Tiny, Lanky, Chunky, the bonus coin system, $5000 bills, and a lot of new colorful dice.
v3.1	May 2020	Swanky's bonus quizzes were modified to be more fair. Animal tokens were introduced to make bonus cards more appealing (collect 1 each time you draw a bonus card, 3 = resource of choice). However, they wouldn't stick around long, due to the complete bonus card reworking in the near future.
v4.0	June 2020	The beginning of a long stretch of re-development. In this phase, we started to re-balance all the resources present on the board, since some of them were not represented evenly.
v4.1	Nov - Dec 2020	The Angry Fish resource was removed, and Angry Foe, Fire, Poison, and Spawners were added. More resource balancing.
v4.2	Dec 2020 - Sept 2021	A very big update! Wrinkly moved from her Save Cave back into Kong Kollege, and Candy has taken over saving duties, as well as managing a whole new ability-swapping system with crystal coconuts. The board has been re-worked and re-printed, most notably with Queen Banana Bird added, and K3 moving in the opposite direction. All the bonus cards were adjusted, with lots of new ones added, in order for the whole bonus card system to be more intrinsically enticing. Lots of items and bonus items were added, as well as whole new sets of cards for Wrinkly and Swanky's spaces. "Level materials" is now the generic term for animals, environments, and resources, in order to be less confusing, and all the materials' counts and prices have been re-balanced. The Angry Foe and Race materials were combined into Chase, $1 bills were removed, and Taj and Xananab have joined as characters. And finally, all the cards were re-printed on higher-quality glossy cardstock, the level sheets were updated with material icons and re-printed on larger paper, and the rules document has been updated from 6 pages into a whopping, comprehensive 33 pages.
v4.3	July - Dec 2023	Another hefty update - the manipulative Klubba makes his debut, bringing along his painful K. Rool's Krap cards. The all-new team mode appears, a long time in the works, and includes a whole host of special duo abilities for each combo of characters. (With most games being solely Austin, Josh, and Justin, we're hoping to scout out some unsuspecting new victims to join us for an exciting 2-on-2 battle.) Cranky's space gains the competitive Expresso Racing minigame. Bonus spaces are made even more enticing with "!" rerolls and the return of animal tokens. Besides that, several new abilities for all the characters have been added, existing abilities and items have been balanced with help from Austin's judgment, and various little rule adjustments have been made, hopefully making things more clear and fair - but won't be surprised if more unforseen changes are needed down the road.











A big special thanks to Joshua Patrick and Austin Brehob for sticking with me all these years to help develop and playtest this behemoth of a game! I also want to give a shout out to Tom Choe and members of the Patrick and Brehob families for helping out and even giving the game a try, and to all new players in the future. Hope you enjoy! All features of this board game were made using Microsoft Word and Excel, Paint.net, and Inkscape. Finally, thanks to the folks at Nintendo and Rare for making such an awesome, inspirational series of video games - you've provided decades of entertainment. Just please don't sue me.
